Trees, Power Lines Are Torn Up In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cool air trickling into the Midwest today blunted a persistent heat wave in some northern areas but also triggered violent thundershowers.

Wind gusts up to 75 miles an hour at Rice Lake, Wis., 60 miles north of Eau Claire, ripped down trees and power lines. At Eau Claire, gusts nearly as strong were accompanied by hail.

Tornadoes were sighted in central and south central Minnesota late Wednesday night. A funnel cloud also was spotted northeast of La Crosse, Wis.

Nearly an inch of rain soaked the northeastern Iowa community of New Hampton during a thundershower that also brought hail and gusty winds.

Temperatures were slightly cooler in the northern Midwest and Plains, but regions as far north as Chicago sweltered in overnight lows in the 80s. The mercury bounded into the high 90s Wednesday from the central Plains to the Great Lakes and into the Southeast.

Showers and thundershowers ranged across the Northeast in the predawn hours and occasionally produced heavy rain. Nearly 1½ inches drenched Harrisburg, Pa.

Locally heavy thundershowers hit portions of west Texas. Some flooding occurred in low-lying areas near El Paso.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 46 at Evanston, Wyo., to 93 at Needles, Calif.

Moon Rock Said Missing From Safe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Nicholas M. Short of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has lost a piece of the moon.

Short discovered a week ago the tiny fragment, weighing one-fiftieth of an ounce, was missing from a safe at the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md.

He said Wednesday it is only about two-thirds the size of a garden pea and was stored in a vial.

"With good luck, I still feel it will be discovered," Short said. Short said the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, sent the material from Apollo 11, the first manned mission to the moon, to Goddard last December.

Short's mission was to look for shock effects from meteorite impact. He found none.

"It was of no further interest to our group. It was too small to do anything with."

Short said the vial containing the material was placed in a safe in December. NASA said the sample was included in an inventory made in late February, a month after another lunar specimen disappeared from a public display in Los Angeles. That specimen was recovered intact.

Heath Program Given By Queen

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath's two-week-old Conservative government unveiled the broad outlines of its legislative program today, promising tax cuts and strike curbs at home and a vigorous foreign policy abroad.

Queen Elizabeth outlined the Tory legislative package in her traditional speech from the throne at the glittering ceremonial opening of Britain's 47th Parliament. Most of it came out of the Conservative platform in the June 16 general election which returned them to office after six years in opposition.

See U.S., Russia Closer Together On Mideast Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats at the United Nations say there are indications that the Soviet Union and the United States have moved closer together on how to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Diplomatic sources said Wednesday that both countries recently made proposals indicating they had softened their requirements for a Middle East peace settlement.

The sources said the Russians now propose formal Arab "commitments to peace" becoming effective following the first phase of Israeli withdrawal from the Arab territories occupied in the June 1967 war.

The U.S. proposal calls on Israel to settle for permanent boundaries that would be the same "in principle" as the pre-war Arab-Israeli lines, the sources said.

The Arabs have been insisting on complete Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories, and the Israelis have been demanding direct negotiations based on Arab recognition of Israel as a state.

Western and Soviet diplomats have been trying to reach an acceptable compromise to the Big Four talks in New York and at U.S.-Soviet talks in Washington.

The talks in both cities center on the resolution approved by the U.N. Security Council on Nov. 22, 1967, which calls for settlement of the 1967 war with a "just and lasting peace" based on Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories and Arab acknowledgment of Israeli sovereignty within recognized boundaries.

The Russians had been asking the Americans how they interpreted "recognized boundaries," and the Americans were asking the Russians how they interpreted a "state of peace," diplomatic sources said.

The chief U.N. delegates of the Big Four nations—the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain—held their 38th meeting in 15 months Wednesday. U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco met Wednesday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin in Washington.

In the Middle East today, the Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said Arab gunners in Jordan fired rockets at two Israeli settlements in the Jordan Valley but caused no casualties. The fire was returned, a spokesman said.

Nation Facing Electrical Crisis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The President's science adviser, Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, says a nationwide campaign to turn off unnecessary lights and air conditioning may be necessary to prevent power cutoffs this summer.

"Even more drastic measures may have to be taken, such as voltage reductions, which have already occurred, and curtailing of selected loads or partial certain industrial plants," DuBridge said Wednesday.

DuBridge, a former president of California Institute of Technology, addressed the American Nuclear Society.

Man Killed In Hunting Accident

A 23-year-old Columbus man died at 6 p.m. Wednesday after being accidentally shot by his brother while hunting groundhogs in Pickaway County.

Marcie Thompson and his brother, Glen C. Thompson, also of Columbus, were hunting in a field off Route 104, one mile north of Route 316, when Marcie was shot.

Glen told Pickaway County Deputies Warren Straley and Bill Dountz they separated after going into the field and were hunting on their own.

He decided to cross the road and hunt in a grove of trees, believing his brother was still in the other field.

SPOTTING some movement in a group of rocks Glen fired and when he went to check found his brother with a bullet wound in the head.

An ambulance was summoned and Glen was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, at 12:05 p.m. where he died.

The Sheriff's Department is continuing the investigation of the accident.

Ohio Hospitals To Lose Funds

CHICAGO (AP) — A deputy regional commissioner for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Wednesday Medicaid funds for public mental hospitals in Ohio are being cut off until the hospitals are brought up to federal standards.

Rosella Hart, supervisor of social rehabilitation services in HEW in six Midwestern states including Ohio, said the hospitals "were given ample warning" that federal funds for the care of mental patients over 65 years of age would be discontinued July 1, 1970 if the hospitals did not comply with HEW requirements. She said she did not know how much federal money Ohio would lose.

Miss Hart said hospitals selected by the state to receive Medicaid funds were given from April 1969 until October 1969 to submit plans for hospital improvements and until Wednesday to implement those improvements.

"Ohio is one of a few states that has not brought the standards of its mental hospitals up to standard," Miss Hart said. "Ohio has been very slow to put its hospitals in order."

Under Medicaid, HEW matches state funds on a 1-to-1 basis to pay medical bills for persons over 65 years of age who qualify for federal Old Age Assistance benefits and who are not covered by Social Security or Medicare.

The funds are paid by HEW to the state welfare department which disburses the money to public mental hospitals. Miss Hart said there are about 10 mental hospitals in Ohio which have been receiving Medicaid payments since the program was initiated.

Under the new HEW requirements mental hospitals participating in the Medicaid program must meet specific standards of nursing care and must maintain a federally-set ratio of patients, doctors, and nurses.

104 American GIs Killed In Week; 4 Planes Downed

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 104 Americans were killed in action in Indochina last week, eight more died in a North Vietnamese attack early today, four American aircraft were lost over Laos this week, and nine of the air crewmen are missing.

The South Vietnamese command reported meanwhile that a large force of government regulars and militia men chopped up a North Vietnamese battalion on the coast 25 miles southeast of the demilitarized zone and killed 58 of the enemy. It was the biggest battle in that sector in more than a year.

The weekly casualty summary said 802 Americans were wounded in the June 21-27 period, while South Vietnamese casualties were 307 killed, 1,607 wounded and six missing. The two allied commands reported 1,484 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed last week.

The American casualties included 34 killed in the last full week of U.S. ground operations in Cambodia. The totals were about 25 per cent above the previous week's, when 80 Americans were killed and 643 wounded.

The summary brought total U.S. combat casualties reported in the war to 42,838 killed and 282,503 wounded. Reported enemy casualties now total 653,675 killed.

The U.S. Command reported that eight more Americans were killed early Thursday and four were wounded in a North Vietnamese attack on a night bivouac of 101st Airborne Division troops in jungled mountains 25 miles west of Hue.

The North Vietnamese attacked with satchel charges and small arms, and 158 of them were reported slain as artillery and helicopter gunships responded to the paratrooper's call for help.

A U.S. artillery base a mile and a half away was pounded repeatedly with mortar fire, but only light casualties resulted and three members of an enemy mortar crew were killed by the gunships, the command said.

The American aircraft lost in the Panhandle, cause not known, pilot missing.

—An Air Force F4 Phantom jet apparently crashed Tuesday on a mission over the Plain of Jars, in north central Laos, both crewmen missing.

—An Air Force OV10 Bronco spotter plane shot down over the Ho Chi Minh trail in the southern Panhandle, one crewman rescued, one missing.

—A big Air Force CH53 rescue helicopter, the kind known as a Jolly Green Giant, shot down as it tried to rescue the Bronco crew. The helicopter's five crewmen are missing.

Says Cambodia Operations Big Success

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon has strongly defended the Cambodia operation while naming a new U.S. negotiator to the long-stalled Paris talks on ending the Vietnam war.

David K. E. Bruce — one of America's most distinguished diplomats, Nixon said in an hour television-radio interview Wednesday night—will take over the post vacated by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. last December.

Without disclosing any new peace formula, Nixon said Bruce "will be in a position with his new instructions to tell the opposition... that we are willing to see whether we can narrow the gap between their position and ours."

Bruce, 72, a Maryland native and lifelong Democrat, has served under five presidents including ambassadorships to France, Germany and Great Britain. He will go to Paris by the first of August.

Indochina was the prime topic and the Mideast secondary as Nixon underwent a quizzing from three network panelists in his first public appearance since the June 30 pull-out of U.S. ground forces from Cambodia.

On the Mideast, Nixon portrayed the Arab-Israeli conflict as potentially more dangerous than Southeast Asia because it has the possibility of a big war with the Soviets and Americans on opposite sides. He said the United States would not allow the military balance to shift against Israel.

But it was on his controversial decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia April 30 that Nixon waged his most vigorous defense—and quickly started drawing a rebuttal from congressional critics.

With a swipe at the Senate's Tuesday vote to bar the President from sending U.S. forces back into Cambodia, he declared:

As commander-in-chief I had no choice but to act to defend those men (the Americans in neighboring South Vietnam). "If I am faced with that decision again, I will exercise that power to defend those men. It will be done."

Nixon rated the two-month U.S. foray against enemy sanctuaries areas inside the Cambodian border as "the most decisive action in terms of damage" (Continued on Page 2)

Flags, Fireworks, Soul Food Make Up July 4 Festivities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Flags, fireworks and soul food are some of the ingredients that will go into Honor America Day activities designed to show love of country on this July 4.

"There will be no banners, no signs, just flags," says Robert E. Cole Jr., Honor America Day parade chairman in Waikiki. He described this Saturday's parade as simply a "flag carrying" march.

Negro leaders in Milwaukee have planned three days of soul food picnics, gospel singing and dances to honor blacks who have died in war. The activities will end July 4 with a parade to honor Crispus Attucks, a black patriot killed in the Boston Massacre prior to the Revolutionary War.

In Virginia, nearly 400 Boy Scouts are participating in a four-day marathon to carry an American flag mounted on a baton from Williamsburg to Washington, where they will arrive for the Honor America observances.

July 4 marks the 194th anniversary of America's birth as a nation, celebrating that day in 1776 when the Continental Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence.

This year Honor America Day activities that are centered in the nation's capital will be added to traditional Independence Day events.

The demonstration designed to show love of country is led by evangelist Billy Graham and entertainer Bob Hope.

The Washington, D.C., project will feature memorial and patriotic services at the Lincoln Memorial and a stage show ending with a fireworks display.

Fear 39 Deaths On Ohio Highways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As many as 39 persons are expected to die on the state's streets and highways during the long July 4 weekend, the Ohio Department of Highway Safety says.

While Independence Day falls on Saturday, the traffic death count will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday because many people will have Friday off for the holiday.

Tarr Defends Fairness Of 2nd Draft Lottery

WASHINGTON (AP) — "When a guy's life is at stake of course you're going to have some complaints," said draft director Curtis W. Tarr as he watched the lottery that determined the order of armed forces inductions for 1971.

"But we would hope they could not complain about its fairness," Tarr added Wednesday.

Tarr who succeeded former director Lewis B. Hershey last April 6, had taken complex precautions to make sure the lottery could not be called one-sided. Some critics charged the 1970 draft lottery last December was not random.

The lottery determined the fate of some 2 million men born in 1951 who will form the "prime" manpower pool for next year's draft.

In Perry, Iowa, Independence day will be celebrated July 3 so the Honor America festivities won't conflict with them, a local civic leader says.

Going to the nation's capital are hundreds of New Yorkers aboard the "Honor America Express," five busloads from Indiana, and several from Massachusetts and other areas.

Actor Howard Keel will read from the Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia's Independence Hall, the nation's birthplace.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston has ordered the ringing of bells in Roman Catholic churches to coincide with the Washington activities.

And in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., wives and families of servicemen missing or captured in Vietnam will be honored prior to a fireworks display.

In Atlanta, Ga., the Boy's Club is backing a "stand up and be counted day." Those calling a special telephone number get an American flag decal and their names placed on a scroll taken to the Washington festivities.

At the Rhode Island Statehouse July 4, the Southern New England Committee for a Victory in Vietnam plans a rally. To the north, Maine will observe "Operation Patriotism," one minute of meditation, "reflecting on the common blessing of citizenship."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office, which brought you zip codes, is thinking about abbreviated addresses to speed the flow of mails.

Researchers probing "human problem areas in moving the mail" have found operators of letter-sorting machines—LSMs—help determine how fast mail flows.

The faster they read addresses and punch in 3-digit numeric codes that send letters into the proper receptacles, the faster the mail is delivered.

At the present rate of 60 letters a minute, the operator has one second to read an address, recall the proper code and punch it in before the next letter comes up.

"This constitutes a considerable memory task for the operator," National Bureau of Standards scientists said in a report for the Post Office.

To help lighten such mental burdens, the government is experimenting with shorter word cycles, variable sorting speeds and ways to cut address-reading time.

If things turn out well, the researchers said, "methods for encoding or abbreviating addresses can then be based on a good estimate of human ability to use the method quickly and accurately."

Other ideas under investigation include machines to sort the mail with voice commands instead of a keyboard, and using television viewing of the mail to allow the LSM operator to be removed from the noisy, dusty operating floor.

Man Arrested In Toledo Slaying

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Police have charged Daniel Wortham, 22, of Toledo with first degree murder and armed robbery in the shooting death Tuesday of Toledo restaurant owner Jerry Parmelee, 45.

Witnesses said Parmelee was killed by one of three men who robbed his Par 4 restaurant. A restaurant customer was wounded rushing to Parmelee's aid.

The Northeast Ohio Restaurant Association has offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the two other suspects, and Parmelee's business associates have offered another $1,000, it was reported.

Both dates and numbers were placed in separate sets of capsules and scrambled according to computer-generated random tables. They were further mixed by tumbling rotating plexiglas drums.

Protestants Stage March In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — About 10,000 militant Protestants paraded without incident through Belfast Wednesday night, but another march 40 miles away touched off minor battling between Protestants and Catholics.

A British army spokesman implied that the disorders in the town of Coalisland were instigated by members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. "Known IRA men were seen in the crowd," the spokesman said. "It proves who is behind the riots."

The rival religious factions hurled rocks, bottles and other missiles at each other and at British troops and local police firing tear gas. Four policemen, a soldier and several civilians were injured, and 10 persons were arrested.

The IRA, an extremist group that vows to reunify Ireland by force if necessary, is outlawed in both British-ruled Northern Ireland and in the Irish Republic to the south.

In Belfast, 10,000 members of the Protestant Orange Order held four marches peacefully under the watchful eyes of 700 British troops. It was a dress rehearsal for the annual parade July 13 to celebrate the 17th century Protestant defeat of Catholic troops at the Battle of the Boyne. The big parade last year touched off Catholic-Protestant warfare that raged for weeks.

Researchers probing "human problem areas in moving the mail" have found operators of letter-sorting machines—LSMs—help determine how fast mail flows.

The faster they read addresses and punch in 3-digit numeric codes that send letters into the proper receptacles, the faster the mail is delivered.

At the present rate of 60 letters a minute, the operator has one second to read an address, recall the proper code and punch it in before the next letter comes up.

"This constitutes a considerable memory task for the operator," National Bureau of Standards scientists said in a report for the Post Office.

To help lighten such mental burdens, the government is experimenting with shorter work cycles, variable sorting speeds and ways to cut address-reading time.

If things turn out well, the researchers said, "methods for encoding or abbreviating addresses can then be based on a good estimate of human ability to use the method quickly and accurately."

Other ideas under investigation include machines to sort the mail with voice commands instead of a keyboard, and using television viewing of the mail to allow the LSM operator to be removed from the noisy, dusty operating floor.

Says Cambodia Operations Big Success

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon has strongly defended the Cambodia operation while naming a new U.S. negotiator to the long-stalled Paris talks on ending the Vietnam war.

David K. E. Bruce — one of America's most distinguished diplomats, Nixon said in an hour television-radio interview Wednesday night—will take over the post vacated by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. last December.

Without disclosing any new peace formula, Nixon said Bruce "will be in a position with his new instructions to tell the opposition... that we are willing to see whether we can narrow the gap between their position and ours."

Bruce, 72, a Maryland native and lifelong Democrat, has served under five presidents including ambassadorships to France, Germany and Great Britain. He will go to Paris by the first of August.

Indochina was the prime topic and the Mideast secondary as Nixon underwent a quizzing from three network panelists in his first public appearance since the June 30 pull-out of U.S. ground forces from Cambodia.

On the Mideast, Nixon portrayed the Arab-Israeli conflict as potentially more dangerous than Southeast Asia because it has the possibility of a big war with the Soviets and Americans on opposite sides. He said the United States would not allow the military balance to shift against Israel.

But it was on his controversial decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia April 30 that Nixon waged his most vigorous defense—and quickly started drawing a rebuttal from congressional critics.

With a swipe at the Senate's Tuesday vote to bar the President from sending U.S. forces back into Cambodia, he declared:

"As commander-in-chief, I had no choice but to act to defend those men (the Americans in neighboring South Vietnam). 'If I am faced with that decision again, I will exercise that power to defend those men. It will be done.'"

Nixon rated the two-month U.S. foray against enemy sanctuaries inside the Cambodian border as "the most decisive action in terms of damage."

Brazilian Police Foil Hijack Of Plane; 4 Are Arrested

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazilian police foiled a hijack attempt with tear gas, fire foam and bullets Wednesday and took the four hijackers off. The government said one was wounded seriously, and the pilot was reported shot in the legs.

Meanwhile a U.S. airliner, a National Airlines DC8 with 39 persons aboard, was hijacked to Cuba while en route from San Francisco to Miami. It spent almost 10 hours in Havana, then was allowed to complete its flight.

The Brazilian jet, a Cruzeiro do Sul Caravelle with 34 passengers and seven crewmen aboard, was taken over by three men and a woman shortly after it took off from Rio de Janeiro for Buenos Aires.

Brazilian authorities said the pilot convinced the hijackers he would have to return to Rio for fuel before starting the long flight to Cuba. But Canadian diplomatic courier Leigh N. Shankland, one of the passengers, said the hijackers told him they wanted to return to Rio and exchange the passengers for 44 political prisoners.

When the plane landed back in Rio, police flattened its tires.

Columbus Boy Arrested Carrying Gun

Unlawful possession of a firearm was filed against a Columbus youth in Pickaway County Juvenile Court last month.

The boy, 17, was arrested by South Bloomfield Marshall in June for carrying a gun in a holster concealed under his shirt. He was given three years probation by Judge Guy Cline.

An Ashville teacher, Merian Neeman, filed charges against three Ashville youths for throwing water balloons at her on Main St. of the village. Aubrey Leager, 16; James Chandler, 17 and Danny Sprouse 15, were all ordered to make restitution of damages and complete 25 hours of community work.

A 15-year-old Cleveland runaway was returned to Cuyahoga County after being found guilty of the theft of an auto from the Berger Hospital parking lot. The car was owned by James Simon, Route 2. The youth will be sentenced by the Cuyahoga juvenile authorities.

A resident of the Pickaway County group home, 374 E. Main St., was placed on probation for three years and returned to the custody of the Pickaway County Childrens Services for leaving the home without the permission of the authorities.

Terry Sowers, 27, Logan St., was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of the three-year-old child when he was discovered living in an automobile with the child and its mother. Sowers was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail. Judge Cline suspended the sentence on the condition that he not associate with the child and its mother, who was made a ward of the court. The young mother was charged with failure to provide a proper home for her child and was released to her parents care until she could be admitted to an unwed mothers home.

A Darby youth was charged with delinquency when he threatened a younger girl and forced her to give him $10 she had in her possession. The boy, 15, was given a permanent commitment to the Ohio Youth Commission in Columbus.

Two infants, the children of a Williamsport woman, were taken from her custody and placed in the care of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board to be sent to a group or foster home.

Thai Minister Blasts U.S. Critics

MANILA (AP) — The South-east Asia Treaty Organization's Council of Ministers opened its 15th annual meeting on a stormy note today as Thailand's foreign minister denounced "Western politicians ... for harassing and persecuting loyal SEATO members."

In an obvious reference to U.S. Senate doves, Foreign Minister Thanant Khoman said his own nation and others had been attacked with "unrestrained rage and fury ... in a sad display of mental pollution and perversion."

He warned that if SEATO is scrapped, the peace and security of Southeast Asia will then have to be safeguarded "by other means and arrangements based on new realities and changing facts of international life."

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers sought to reassure the SEATO allies that under the Nixon Doctrine the United States intends to remain a Pacific power and will not withdraw into a shell of isolationism.

"We will support the efforts of our Asian friends to maintain their own sovereignty and security," he said. But Rogers again emphasized that the Nixon administration under the policy of Vietnamization, is turning over the primary responsibility for ground combat to the South Vietnamese and is looking to nations directly threatened by Communist forces to provide the manpower for their defense.

In line with this, Australian Foreign Minister William McMahon said his government's decision to withdraw one battalion of its force in Vietnam reflects the growing ability of the Saigon government to look after itself.

Rogers said the United States will give limited military assistance to Cambodia, but the U.S. aim in Cambodia is to protect the allied programs in Vietnam. He called the increased cooperation between Cambodia and its neighbors — South Vietnam, Thailand and Laos — a "logical and principled response to a common danger." But he stressed that the United States does not favor any military association between SEATO and Cambodia.

He said that neutrality of

Eye Holdout By Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, faced with 100 Southern school districts that still defy Supreme Court desegregation edicts, is without a course of action only nine weeks before classes reopen this fall.

But Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard declared Wednesday that "the period of negotiations is ended" and promised the administration would decide by early next week how to move against the holdout districts.

He indicated the administration will attempt to avoid using "an iron fist" against districts that have escaped federal legal action for 16 years after the high court's dictum to erase dual school facilities for blacks and whites.

Emerging from a meeting with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Education Secretary Elliott Richardson and Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, Leonard said the emphasis this fall would be on securing local cooperation as it has been for most of this year.

But the chief of the Justice Department's civil rights division did not rule out the possibility of bringing statewide suits in areas where school segregation is too widespread to handle by individual litigation.

Brazilian Police Foil Hijack Of Plane; 4 Are Arrested

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazilian police foiled a hijack attempt with tear gas, fire foam and bullets Wednesday and took the four hijackers off. The government said one was wounded seriously, and the pilot was reported shot in the legs.

Shankland, one of the passengers, said the hijackers told him they wanted to return to Rio and exchange the passengers for 44 political prisoners.

When the plane landed back in Rio, police flattened its tires with machine-gun fire, surrounded it and warned the hijackers they would rush the plane unless the passengers were freed.

"We will kill the passengers one by one," the hijackers radioed back. But the police stormed the plane behind a cloud of tear gas, a hail of bullets, and billows of firefighting foam. Several passengers, including Shankland, jumped out an emergency exit during the melee.

Authorities said some persons were injured, but it could not be learned how many. Five ambulances were seen leaving the airport.

The National Airlines plane was diverted to Cuba as it neared Miami about noon and spent the rest of the day at the Havana airport, finally reaching Miami at 9:32 Wednesday night.

Siam Program Scheduled At Wagnalls

In "Thailand ... Anna's Siam", Margaret Baker brings to the screen a film as rich and colorful as the Thai silk. She will appear personally to present it July 12 at The Wagnalls Memorial, Lithopolis, at 2:30 p.m. There will be no charge.

"The King and I" had much to do with familiarizing Americans about Anna's Siam; but there is far more to the story of present-day Thailand. Once upon a time it was a simple land of water buffaloes trudging bumpy roadways; peasant women bearing shoulder yokes; monasteries and gilded temples.

In such a placid setting, the scenes seem right out of a travel brochure, and in fact jaywalking buffaloes, water bearers, and saffron-robed monks are still ever present on the Siam scene. But Thailand today buzzes with grim tales of war, and could become a latterday Vietnam.

One of the most affluent countries in all of Southeast Asia, Thailand is riding the crest of an unprecedented economic boom. Shiny new cars and motorcycles jostle each other on Bangkok's noisy streets. In the lush green countryside, peasants tending rice fields may also own transistor radios.

Margaret Baker has filmed it all, from Thailand's respected monarchs, Bhumibol and Sirikit, to their subjects' perpetually smiling faces, and the country's rich and interesting life and landscape. She devotes the greater part of her time now to bringing American audiences interesting and informative documentary film lectures of countries important to the democratic way of living.

Indian Tribe Plans Red Power Showing

PEMBROKE, N.C. (AP) — Now it's the red power.

The Lumbee Indians of North Carolina are planning their first homecoming day on the 4th of July at Pembroke. "We're going to demonstrate what red power can do. It will be peaceful power," said W. J. Strickland, the homecoming coordinator.

Thai Minister Blasts U.S. Critics

MANILA (AP) — The South-east Asia Treaty Organization's Council of Ministers opened its 15th annual meeting on a stormy note today as Thailand's foreign minister denounced "Western politicians ... for harassing and persecuting loyal SEATO members."

In an obvious reference to U.S. Senate doves, Foreign Minister Thanant Khoman said his own nation and others had been attacked with "unrestrained rage and fury ... in a sad display of mental pollution and perversion."

He warned that if SEATO is scrapped, the peace and security of Southeast Asia will then have to be safeguarded "by other means and arrangements based on new realities and changing facts of international life."

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers sought to reassure the SEATO allies that under the Nixon Doctrine the United States intends to remain a Pacific power and will not withdraw into a shell of isolationism.

"We will support the efforts of our Asian friends to maintain their own sovereignty and security," he said. But Rogers again emphasized that the Nixon administration under the policy of Vietnamization, is turning over the primary responsibility for ground combat to the South Vietnamese and is looking to nations directly threatened by Communist forces to provide the manpower for their defense.

In line with this, Australian Foreign Minister William McMahon said his government's decision to withdraw one battalion of its force in Vietnam reflects the growing ability of the Saigon government to look after itself.

Rogers said the United States will give limited military assistance to Cambodia, but the U.S. aim in Cambodia is to protect the allied programs in Vietnam. He called the increased cooperation between Cambodia and its neighbors — South Vietnam, Thailand and Laos — a "logical and principled response to a common danger." But he stressed that the United States does not favor any military association between SEATO and Cambodia.

He said that neutrality of

Eye Holdout By Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, faced with 100 Southern school districts that still defy Supreme Court desegregation edicts, is without a course of action only nine weeks before classes reopen this fall.

But Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard declared Wednesday that "the period of negotiations is ended" and promised the administration would decide by early next week how to move against the holdout districts.

He indicated the administration will attempt to avoid using "an iron fist" against districts that have escaped federal legal action for 16 years after the high court's dictum to erase dual school facilities for blacks and whites.

Emerging from a meeting with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Education Secretary Elliott Richardson and Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, Leonard said the emphasis this fall would be on securing local cooperation as it has been for most of this year.

But the chief of the Justice Department's civil rights division did not rule out the possibility of bringing statewide suits in areas where school segregation is too widespread to handle by individual litigation.

Fairfield County Trucker Dead

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A Fairfield County trucker who was wounded by sniper fire in Illinois during a trucking strike last April and May, died Wednesday night in a St. Louis, Mo., hospital, it was reported here Thursday.

The victim was Gary Kistler, 30, of Pickerington. He was driving a truck on a convoy of 15 other trucks on Interstate 70 near Highland, Ill. when wounded by sniper fire May 5.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-seven months ago Americans began transferring a greater part of their pay to the federal government, thereby decreasing their own spending power and enhancing that of Uncle Sam.

The avowed purpose was to restrain inflation, but it was widely interpreted by others to have the purpose of financing a war.

As of today, all workers and corporations cease giving that little bit extra. The income tax surcharge, once 10 per cent and later 5 per cent, has ended.

But inflation continues, and so does the war. And so the question arises as to what happened to those billions of dollars taken out of the private economy?

It is perhaps too easy to say that the surtax failed in its aims, although inflation did continue unabated since April 1, 1968. But what would the rate have been without it?

In support of the surtax, it can be argued that it probably was the key to saving the economy during the past two years. Without it, would inflation have raged through the economy in a gigantic economic conflagration?

At the opposite pole of thinking, there are some who maintain that the tax simply gave more money to the government to spend and that, therefore, it contributed to inflation rather than restrained it.

It is dead, at any rate, which is one event that many forecasters would have bet against two years ago. "Temporary," they thought, never really means that; somehow it evolves into "permanent."

That this tax didn't in fact become permanent is noteworthy for several reasons. The government still needs the money, of course; it always does. Then there is the matter of continued inflation. There is still a war.

It was the war, ironically, that may have killed the surtax. To ask again that it be prolonged another year would obviously have aroused the feelings and politics of those opposed to the Indochina commitment.

It had, simply, become known as a war tax, and therefore was at variance with the stated purpose of the Nixon administration to bring the economy safely through a transition from wartime to a peacetime footing.

By permitting it to lapse, therefore, the administration in effect has said—as it has said so many other ways—that the economic game plan is on schedule and evolving as expected. Certainly an optimistic view.

What are the brightest consequences of the cessation?

—It will put money into the pockets of families that have been feeling an increasing strain on their resources.

—It will give corporations some relief from liquidity problems.

—It could help shorten a recession.

But might it not also add to inflation by returning purchasing power to the private economy? It might.

According To Boyle

By LOUISE COOK (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — You can lead me to McSorley's, but you can't make me drink.

Far be it from me to sneer at the efforts of those women who finally broke the 15-year-old sex barrier at McSorley's Old Ale House in Greenwich Village.

They've won the right to stand in the sawdust, belly up to the bar and quaff their ale with the men.

What puzzles me is why they'd want this somewhat dubious privilege.

Women are never really at their best in bars.

Try perching on a bar stool. Chances are your legs aren't long enough. Hoist yourself up anyway. With the midlife there isn't too much peril to modesty.

Now find a place to put your purse. Before all you militants do away with that little feminine frippery you'll have to find a place to carry the money with which you'll independently pay for your own drinks.

Put the purse on the floor and you can't reach it. Put it on the bar and get a sneering, "Lady, I gotta serve drinks here. Move that thing." Put it in your lap and it falls into the sawdust.

The art of drinking isn't much easier. That hearty mug of ale—no fair cheating and ordering an apricot brandy sour—is designed for male mitts, not feminine fingers. And nothing looks sillier than ale drinker who hoists the mug with two fists.

If you're looking for conversation, the bar ain't the place.

What about eavesdropping on those tales of woe poured out to the bartender, legendary amateur psychiatrist? Close your eyes, imagine the voices are an octave higher and you might as well be at the beauty parlor listening to Mrs. Jones regale her hairdresser.

Entertainment means television, preferably two sets, each tuned to a different sports event. Don't try to listen. Just grunt with the crowd.

If this is freedom to the feminists, they can have it. I'll slither off my stool remembering the words of Aesop: "Better beans and bacon in peace, than cakes and ale in fear." Or in a liberated saloon.

Black Market Loss Zooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hijackers are diverting truckloads of GI post exchange merchandise to the Saigon black market, Congress has heard, and American authorities can do little once it gets there.

"I've been there a number of times looking at my merchandise and knowing I can't do much about it," Brig. Gen. James A. Bailey, commander of the Pacific exchange system, told a House armed services subcommittee Tuesday.

"Rarely a month goes by that we don't have a major truck hijacking or other diversion—$5,000 worth of merchandise or more," he said. "I've known of instances up to $50,000."

He said losses from all causes amounted to $17.6 million last year, but didn't know how much of it ended up on the black market. He said individual small sales of P goods by American and allied soldiers to the black market accounted for a bigger flow than truck hijackings.

In an effort to cut down the hijackings, he said, many trucks now must follow detailed delivery routes. Military police check any trucks not on the routes.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DRIVING has become so hazardous on Los Angeles' overcrowded thoroughfares that the pastor of one congregation erected a sign outside the chapel which proclaims, "Last chance to pray before entering the freeway."

The famous and tricky St. Andrews golf course in Scotland has one trap known as "Hell" because it's so hard to get out of. A visiting American clergyman, the Rev. Putney May, had been warned about this trap so, of course, he landed his ball plop in the middle of it. Calling for his wedge, he amazed his caddy—and himself—by executing a perfect "out" and landing his ball eleven inches from the cup. His caddy jumped up to the green ahead of him and advised, "Reverend, when ye die, ye'd do well to take that wedge with ye."

DIALOGUE:
1. MIKE: "What's the charge for a funeral notice in your paper?"
CLASSIFIED AD CLERK: "Sixty cents an inch."
MIKE: "Forget it. Me poor uncle was six feet tall."
2. PARK AVENUE CLUBMAN: "I hear your young son has become very politically active."
FATHER: "Yes, he's very liberal. In fact, he'll do anything for the underdog except walk ours."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I work at a job that requires me to stand on my feet most of the day. Some noticeable blood vessels are accumulating just above my knees, although I'm only 18. Can these be removed by plastic surgery, or by draining them?

Mrs. G.A.W., Georgia
Dear Miss W.: Although the enlarged blood vessels may be related to your occupation, they also occur, for a good many other reasons, in people older than you. Understandably, at your age 18, you are particularly conscious of your appearance and therefore want something done immediately and urgently.

Plastic surgery is not the way to treat this condition. Your own doctor will tell you that these tiny blood vessels cannot be "drained" and rarely can be removed by injections. Small varicose veins, however, are treated in selected cases by injections.

One way you might keep those blood vessels from accumulating further is to use supportive stockings while at work. Whenever possible, you might also take a short resting period and elevate your feet and legs.

Far too many people fall for mail-order and magazine sales promotions that extol the "benefits" of expensive lotions and even electrical appliances described as possessing "a new scientific process, immediately removes blemishes and blood vessels anywhere on the skin." Avoid these and avoid trouble by following the simple and reliable directions of your own physician.

My husband has had a hiatus hernia since he had his gall bladder removed. Why should this happen after an operation and can it be cured without further surgery?

Mrs. A.W., Illinois
Dear Mrs. W.: I doubt that there is any relationship between the removal of your husband's gall bladder and his hernia. Undoubtedly this condition existed before the operation and may not have been discovered until later. It is not unusual to try to tie up any two conditions when, in reality, they are only related by coincidence.

A hiatus hernia is a condition in which a portion of the stomach pushes its way through an enlarged opening in the diaphragm and actually may stay in the chest cavity where the esophagus and the stomach join.

Uncomplicated hernias of this kind can be kept under control by a rigid, bland, ulcer-type diet. Frequent small meals of easily digested, non-irritating food bring relief from discomfort. A wide variety of drugs can relieve the spasm. In some instances, surgery may be necessary, but that of course, depends on your own doctor's judgment combined with that of a surgical consultant. When the condition is kept under regular control, complications rarely occur.

I recently visited a relative who told me he had a hookworm. Can this be transmitted to me even with a short contact?

Mr. C. B. Texas
Dear Mr. B.: Hookworm, a parasitic infection, occurs mostly in warm, moist climates. It is usually introduced by way of the skin from contaminated soil. I doubt that a short contact and exposure to your relative means that you have had this worm transmitted to you. It is wise that your physician thoroughly examine the stool for parasites. Modern drugs can keep this condition under control when once it is known to exist.

"Resting" your emotions is as important as catering to the needs of your body.

California Moneyless

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's $6.59 billion California state budget was killed by Democrats in the legislature Wednesday and the nation's most populous state started the new fiscal year with no authority to pay its bills.

"The state has legally ceased to function," a weary Reagan told a 1 a.m. news conference after the budget failed to pass by two votes in each house.

The Republican governor called the budget opponents "intransigent" and said their demands—largely for more state aid to schools—would result in a $500 million tax increase.

The state's 181,000 workers were expected to work today even though their pay officially stopped at midnight.

It was the second time in the state's 120-year history that California started the new fiscal year without a budget. The first time was one year ago, when legislative Democrats held out until July 3 when they won education money concessions from Reagan.

Pollution And Cathedral

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

COLOGNE — Cologne's cathedral is a magnificent witness to several centuries of Christendom. It is also a witness to pollution. Every day forty-five stone masons from the nearby Eifel Mountain region come into town to work at the patient business of restoring the basalt stone that is being eaten away by the acids in the Rhineland air. The smog has filtered down for years from the great cracking plants a few miles to the north where naphtha is changed into petrochemicals. The grime from the steel mills at Duisburg and the Ruhr valley has blackened the cathedral's stones. Between the impalpable industrial foulness from the upper air, the nitric acid, and the exhaust from the cars on the autobahn, the cathedral, if left unattended, might collapse to the ground in a grisly death race with Venice, which is supposedly sinking into the sea.

There is little enough money to pay for the needed renewal of crumbling masonry. By holding an annual lottery, and by collecting small sums from individuals and foundations, a million marks are assembled each year to finance what renovation is done. To stay even with the depredations of smog and weather, or to get a little ahead of the game, a total of two million marks is required. But how to get it?

There are some hopeful people who think the cathedral is in for better days no matter what is accomplished by way of raising money to replace the old stones. But there are plenty of skeptics, too. To a visiting American who travels down the Rhine to Duisburg and Düsseldorf, the smog reminds one of Los Angeles. There is the same stinging sensation around the eyes, the same watery blurring of vision. However, people who have worked for the Thyssen steel company in the Hamborn suburb of Duisburg say the air pollution is not so bad as it used to be, and they think conditions will be even better tomorrow.

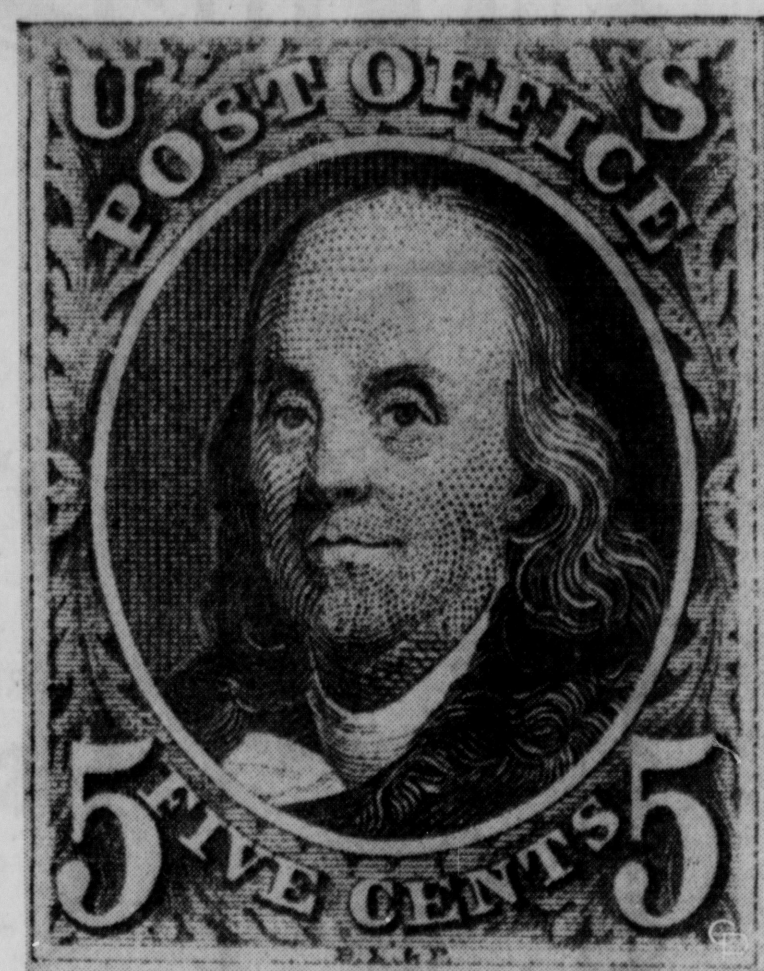

Last January a new law went into effect compelling the steel mills to cut their pollution to a minimum or face severe penalties. To prepare for the day when the new law was to become operative, the Thyssen company actually closed down some open hearth furnaces that had had only ten years of use. The Thyssens works at Hamborn were already turning to an across-the-board use of the new basic oxygen process in steel making, which pollutes less than does the open hearth. Today the Hamborn complex produces ten million metric tons of steel a year in two great basic oxygen shops without adding much dust to the air.

The best thing for the Duisburg-Hamborn area is the phasing out of the last of the old Thomas converters, which fill the air with "brown smoke." Today there is only one place in the whole Ruhr where a Thomas plant (similar to a Bessemer plant) still operates, and it will be discontinued soon. People who remember the old days in the Duisburg-Düsseldorf region, when the leaves of trees were more gray than green, have suddenly awakened to the reality of fresh foliage. The trees themselves — to be pathetically fallacious — must have been surprised when the Thomas converters disappeared.

Even with the new basic oxygen furnaces a special effort is needed to comply with the new anti-pollution law. Thyssen figures that it costs 2.5 marks per ton of steel to keep the air clean in and above its steel making facilities. With ten million metric tons being produced in a year, this means that Thyssen (which, incidentally, might be called the U. S. Steel of West Germany) spends 25,000,000 marks for air pollution control. In dollar terms, this means that some $7 million a year is spent for no financial return beyond the gaining of a little usable steam that results from cooling gases with water. In terms of charity, the 25,000,000 marks might be called the Thyssen contribution to the saving of Cologne Cathedral. For if pollution is eyes.

The friends of the cathedral, however, still insist they need direct money contributions to save their great relic of the high Middle Ages. The chemical plants still do some polluting, and the automobiles still burn gasoline badly. Some smog is still there, as you can tell from the smarting evidence of your eyes.

Dear Sir: To make a dope addict of a person is to destroy him. To make dope available is a major contribution to the process of destruction. And that is exactly what is happening to many of those who America has sent to Vietnam.

From the "papa-sans" in South Vietnam a whole handful of marijuana cigarettes can be purchased for a dollar. The potency of those fags far exceeds anything available in this country. Pot in Vietnam produces a trip like LSD. Opium can be had easily and American GIs are getting hooked on it.

also, and therefore becoming hors de combat as a result.

In addition to the crippling effect of drugs there is another evil that cannot be overlooked. Some of our GIs have contracted in Vietnam a vicious type of venereal disease for which there is no known cure. And prostitution is big business there, made so by the availability of American dollars.

From the foregoing it becomes obvious that North Vietnam is not the only enemy we are up against in Southeast Asia.

How long are we going to continue to support those who bite the hands that feed them? How long are we going to continue to keep American boys in the hostile environment of Southeast Asia?

The Answer: "For as long as the silent majority remains complacent and silent."

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-seven months ago Americans began transferring a greater part of their pay to the federal government, thereby decreasing their own spending power and enhancing that of Uncle Sam.

The avowed purpose was to restrain inflation, but it was widely interpreted by others to have the purpose of financing a war.

As of today, all workers and corporations cease giving that little bit extra. The income tax surcharge, once 10 per cent and later 5 per cent, has ended.

But inflation continues, and so does the war. And so the question arises as to what happened to those billions of dollars taken out of the private economy?

It is perhaps too easy to say that the surtax failed in its aims, although inflation did continue unabated since April 1, 1968. But what would the rate have been without it?

In support of the surtax, it can be argued that it probably was the key to saving the economy during the past two years. Without it, would inflation have raged through the economy in a gigantic economic conflagration?

At the opposite pole of thinking, there are some who maintain that the tax simply gave more money to the government to spend and that, therefore, it contributed to inflation rather than restrained it.

It is dead, at any rate, which is one event that many forecasters would have bet against two years ago. "Temporary," they thought, never really means that; somehow it evolves into "permanent."

That this tax didn't in fact become permanent is noteworthy for several reasons. The government still needs the money, of course; it always does. Then there is the matter of continued inflation. There is still a war.

It was the war, ironically, that may have killed the surtax. To ask again that it be prolonged another year would obviously have aroused the feelings and politics of those opposed to the Indochina commitment.

It had, simply, become known as a war tax, and therefore was at variance with the stated purpose of the Nixon administration to bring the economy safely through a transition from wartime to a peacetime footing.

By permitting it to lapse, therefore, the administration in effect has said—as it has said of so many other ways—that the economic game plan is on schedule and evolving as expected. Certainly an optimistic view.

What are the brightest consequences of the cessation?

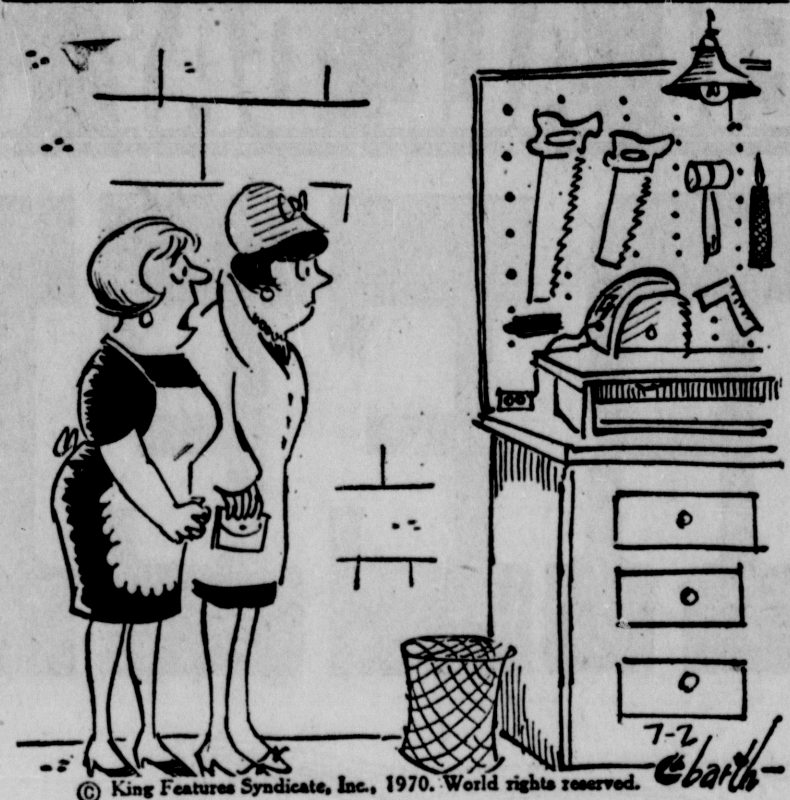

—It will put money into the pockets of families that have been feeling an increasing strain on their resources.

—It will give corporations some relief from liquidity problems.

—It could help shorten a recession.

But might it not also add to inflation by returning purchasing power to the private economy? It might.

DRIVING has become so hazardous on Los Angeles' overcrowded thoroughfares that the pastor of one congregation erected a sign outside the chapel which proclaims, "Last chance to pray before entering the freeway."

The famous and tricky St. Andrews golf course in Scotland has one trap known as "Hell" because it's so hard to get out of. A visiting American clergyman, the Rev. Putney May, had been warned about this trap so, of course, he landed his ball plop in the middle of it. Calling for his wedge, he amazed his caddy — and himself — by executing a perfect "out" and landing his ball eleven inches from the cup. His caddy jumped up to the green ahead of him and advised, "Reverend, when ye die, ye'd do well to take that wedge with ye."

DIALOGUE:
1. MIKE: "What's the charge for a funeral notice in your paper?"
CLASSIFIED AD CLERK: "Sixty cents an inch."
MIKE: "Forget it. Me poor uncle was six feet tall."
2. PARK AVENUE CLUBMAN: "I hear your young son has become very politically active."
FATHER: "Yes, he's very liberal. In fact, he'll do anything for the underdog except walk ours."

Speaking Of Your Health

I work at a job that requires me to stand on my feet most of the day. Some noticeable blood vessels are accumulating just above my knees, although I'm only 18. Can these be removed by plastic surgery, or by draining them?

According To Boyle

By LOUISE COOK (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — You can lead me to McSorley's, but you can't make me drink.

Far be it from me to sneer at the efforts of those women who finally broke the 115-year-old sex barrier at McSorley's Old Ale House in Greenwich Village. They've won the right to stand in the sawdust, belly up to the bar and quaff their ale with the men.

What puzzles me is why they'd want this somewhat dubious privilege.

Women are never really at their best in bars.

Try perching on a bar stool. Chances are your legs aren't long enough. Hoist yourself up anyway. With the midl there isn't too much peril to modesty.

Now find a place to put your purse. Before all you militants do away with that little feminine frippery you'll have to find a place to carry the money with which you'll independently pay for your own drinks.

Put the purse on the floor and you can't reach it. Put it on the bar and get a sneering, "Lady, I gotta serve drinks here. Move that thing." Put it in your lap and it falls into the sawdust.

The art of drinking isn't much easier. That hearty mug of ale — no fair cheating and ordering an apricot brandy sour — is designed for male mitts, not feminine fingers. And nothing looks sillier than ale drinker who hoists the mug with two fists. If you're looking for conversation, the bar ain't the place.

What about eavesdropping on those tales of woe poured out by the bartender, legendary amateur psychiatrist? Close your eyes, imagine the voices are an octave higher and you might as well be at the beauty parlor listening to Mrs. Jones regale her hairdresser.

Entertainment means television, preferably two sets, each tuned to a different sports event. Don't try to listen. Just grunt with the crowd.

If this is freedom to the feminists, they can have it. I'll slither off my stool remembering the words of Aeschylus: "Better beans and bacon in peace, than cakes and ale in fear." Or in a liberated sloop.

Black Market Loss Zooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hijackers are diverting truckloads of GI post exchange merchandise to the Saigon black market, Congress has heard, and American authorities can do little once it gets there.

"I've been there a number of times looking at my merchandise and knowing I can't do much about it," Brig. Gen. James A. Bailey, commander of the Pacific exchange system, told a House armed services subcommittee Tuesday.

"Rarely a month goes by that we don't have a major truck hijacking or other diversion—$5,000 worth of merchandise or more," he said. "I've known of instances up to $50,000."

He said losses from all causes amounted to $17.6 million last year, but didn't know how much of it ended up on the black market. He said individual small sales of P goods by American and allied soldiers to the black market accounted for a bigger flow than truck hijackings.

In an effort to cut down the hijackings, he said, many trucks now must follow detailed delivery routes. Military police check any trucks not on the routes.

Ask Special Grand Jury On SERS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County Prosecutor C. Howard Johnson asked Wednesday that a special grand jury be seated to investigate alleged irregularities in the School Employees Retirement System (SERS).

The task is too big for the current grand jury, already swamped with felony cases, to handle, Johnson said in his request to the Common Pleas Court criminal affairs committee.

Johnson estimated there could be as many as 40 witnesses in his presentation to the special grand jury.

The probe is based on State Auditor Roger Cloud's report on SERS.

The report said James B. Lore, former SERS investment officer, "made misrepresentations to SERS and prompted illegal loans to the system."

Cloud's report also asserted: "Gerald Donahue, a former SERS board member from the attorney general's staff, Sidney Griffith and Harry Groban, also principals in Crofters, Inc., are involved."

Crofters received fees from private firms for arranging loans of state funds.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Government policy is that the two official languages, English and Afrikaans, are equal and must be used equally. Among the latest targets for bilingualism is whisky but long standing Afrikaner dislike for British imperialism seems to have taken a hand. Queen Anne whisky is now labelled "Tant Anna," or Aunt Ana. If other distillers follow the bilingual line, Johnny Walker may become Jan Looper, Teachers may be Onderwysers and Highland Cream may become Hoevelo Tanni.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mr. French has had things too much his own way on "Family Affair" and this fall he is going to find a nettlesome redheaded cleaning woman in his beard.

Nancy Walker, who will play a rather messy, busybody housekeeper, describes her function as "a thorn in Mr. French's side."

Mr. French, of course, is the very proper English major domo played by Sebastian Cabot in the long-running comedy series on CBS.

Miss Walker, who was once described as the funniest actress on Broadway when she starred in such shows as "Best Foot Forward," "On the Town" and "Do-Re-Mi," was persuaded to move to California to take the role.

"I love to work and there's no work in New York," she said. "None that one would want to do. I did a few commercials. Oh, I did the Sullivan show."

Miss Walker, who has enough of a barb on the tip of her tongue so that you know Mr. French is in for a time, also had a few words of farewell for New York that would wilt the carnation in the buttonhole of the city's greeter.

She said she and her husband, David Craig, are buying a house here and will sell their New York apartment.

She said, "I got a look at the next script and I nearly fainted. I figured I'd have a few lines and I'd learn them later, but in it I never shut my mouth. They said they were going to involve me and they meant it."

"It's the most relaxed show in the world and I go in all tensed up. If I blow a line I'm ready to — but Charlie Barton, the director, says, ah, ah, take it easy. I'm a natural born worrier just like Bert Lahr. Even when I know the lines I think I don't know them and can't say them."

This is Miss Walker's second round in Hollywood. In the 1950s she was in the MGM stable of stars. "Unfortunately, they just weren't oriented toward comedienne," she said. "No one was writing for us and we were relegated to the friend of the friend parts."

"I begged my agent to get me out of the contract. One day he called me and said he had had news. He said I'd been let out of my contract. I said bad news! I left town that night."

Miss Walker said she now finds Hollywood a different, and better place than it was. "The tempo's picked up."

27 Overcome

By Chlorine Gas

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-seven persons were overcome by escaping chlorine gas at the Sandpiper Swim Club Wednesday night.

All but two were released after treatment at the Mercy Medical Center. Michael Font, 9, and Cynthia DeWitt, 5, remained hospitalized in fair condition.

Officials said a chlorinator had allowed the gas to escape into the shallow end of the pool. The club was evacuated and closed by the health department until repairs are made.

Abortion Law Takes Effect In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's most liberal abortion law goes into effect today in New York State. More than 700 women have already been scheduled for the operation in New York City municipal hospitals.

The new law contains no residency requirement and speculation on the number of women who will seek abortions here has ranged from 110,000 up to as many as 500,000 a year.

Under the new law the decision to have an abortion is left to the woman and her physician and the operation is permitted up to the 24th week of pregnancy.

Dr. Shirley Mayer of the city's Bureau of Maternal and Child Care predicted Tuesday that the city's facilities would be adequate for "our own residents, but we'll just have to wait and see about the out-of-towners."

Hospitals in the city have been preparing for the last two months to deal with the expected demand. The City Board of Health has also approved performance of the operation in certain types of clinics.

The fee for a non-Medicare patient at a city hospital is expected to run from $110 to $125. Ward patients at voluntary hospitals will pay about the same while private patient's cost will depend largely on her physician's fee.

The Blue Shield announced Tuesday it would pay doctors' fees ranging from $50 to $150 for its subscribers, married or unmarried, if the abortion is performed in a government-approved facility.

What's all this fuss about science fiction? Boys and girls have been reading it for years, but it's called "fantasy." Some of it is as new as "The Andromeda Strain" and some as old as "The War of the Worlds."

Lewis Carroll, mathematician with a scholar's mind, miniaturized his protagonist in "Alice in Wonderland," reminds you of "The Fantastic Voyage," doesn't it? That's the unbelievable yarn about the medical team which was reduced in size and dispatched through a man's blood stream.

"The Enormous Egg" by Oliver Butterworth tells of Uncle Beazley, the dinosaur who was hatched by a hen in Freedom, New Hampshire. As he grew, his poor owner could hardly supply enough for his pet. After all, it takes a great lot of salad greens to support a growing triceratops!

"The Shy Stegostaurus of Cricket Creek" by Evelyn Sibley Lampmow is also about a prehistoric animal in today's world.

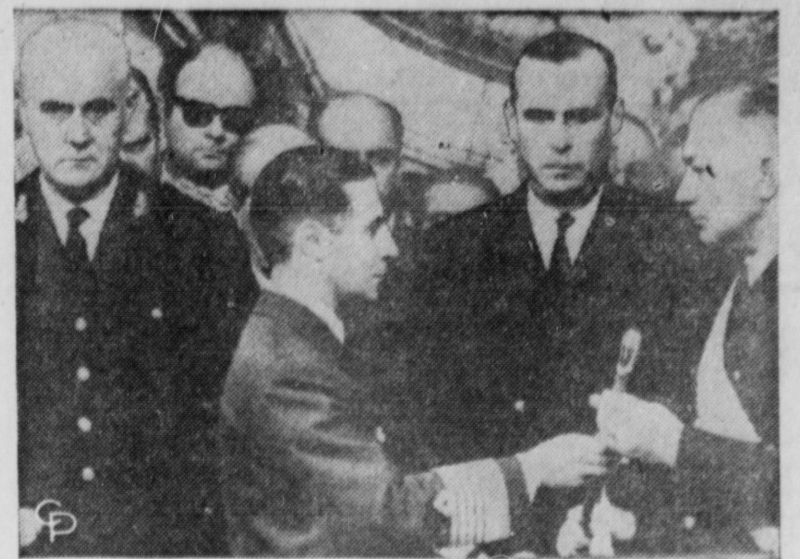

Louis Slobodkin, with his zany mind, has written several juvenile books of science fiction. First was "The Spaceship Under the Apple Tree," followed by "The Space Ship Returns," "The Three-Seated Space Ships" and "Round Trip Spaceship."

"Stowaway to the Mushroom Planet" and "Mr. Bass's Planetoid" by Ellen Cameron are favorite modern books for juniors. She also wrote "The Terrible Churnadryne."

"The Boy Who Could Fly" by Robert Newman, "The Marvelous Inventions of Alvin Fernald" by Clifford B. Hicks, and "The Furious Flycycle" by Jan Wahl are whimsical stories of boy geniuses with fantastic mental capabilities.

Other juveniles in the science fiction field are Jerome Beatty, Jr.'s "Matthew Looney's Invasion of the Earth," L. M. Baston's "The Castle of Yew," Paul Gallico's "The Day Jean-Pierre Went Round the World," Don Freeman's "Space Witch," Lloyd Alexander's "Time Cat," and "Three Boys and Space" by Nan Agle and Ellen Wilson.

Mrs. John Ater Earns Grange Sewing Award

SEWING AWARD — Mrs. John Ater is shown modeling the jacket dress that won second place in Class A competition in the National Grange Sewing Contest.

Mrs. John Ater, a member of Clarksburg Grange 2657, was awarded second place in the Class A competition in the National Grange Sewing Contest conducted recently. Mrs. Ater, the former Mary Roby of Kingston, started sewing while in high school. Mr. and Mrs. Ater's farm home is northeast of Clarksburg, along Ater Road off Route 138, in Pickaway County.

Last year, Mrs. Winfred Fulton, also a member of Clarksburg Grange, won top honors at the National Session in Florida.

Mrs. Ater's entry was a beige and white jacket dress in an abstract design print. Both the jacket and dress were lined.

Mrs. Ater is women's activities chairman for her subordinate Grange. She has served as secretary, Flora and lady assistant steward. Mr. Ater is gatekeeper and has served as steward, overseer and master. They have been members of Pomona Grange for 22 years and members of the Clarksburg subordinate 23 years and are sixth degree Grangers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ater are members of the district-winning Ross County Ritual Degree Team.

Mrs. Ater served the last two years as first vice president of the Ohio State Mother's Assn. of Chillicothe and is active in the Women's Society of the Clarksburg United Methodist Church.

The Aters are anticipating helping at the annual Clarksburg Field Day in August.

Berger Guild Holds Workshop

Berger Hospital Guild 45 met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. John A. Stevenson, Route 2. The Lawn Festival and plans for next year's project were discussed.

A workshop was conducted during the evening with members making items for the bazaar.

A family picnic will be held 3:30 p.m. July 26 at Hargus Lake.

A new member, Mrs. John Prince, was welcomed by those present.

The next regular meeting will be held in September with Mrs. Fred McGlone as hostess.

Social Club Holds Picnic At Church

Pickaway Social Club met recently for a picnic dinner in the Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church. Plans had been made to hold the affair at A. W. Marion State Park, but inclement weather forced a change of plans.

A special feature of the day was the barbecued chicken furnished for everyone by Mr. and Mrs. John Miranda. They not only barbecued the chicken, but they raised, prepared and donated them for the occasion. The chicken and a great variety of other foods were enjoyed by the 40 members present.

During the business meeting, those present signed up for the bus trip to Millersburg and surrounding areas scheduled for Oct. 7. Nearly a bus load has already been signed up, but if there are others who wish to go, it may be possible to take a larger bus or even two. Anyone not already signed up may call Mrs. Lorentz at 474-9064.

Members were urged to attend the Ohio State Fair, Aug. 27 through Sept. 7. There will be many activities for Senior Citizens at the Fair this year.

The balance of the afternoon was spent playing games for which small prizes were donated by Frances Pritt, Adella Huffman and Twyla Lorentz.

There will be no meetings during July and August. The next meeting will be held September 24 at Trinity Lutheran Parish House.

Farewell Dinner Fetes Groff Family

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Groff and family were honored Saturday evening at a covered-dish supper in the recreation room in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary George, 359 Clark Drive. Attending the event were 60 guests to bid farewell as Rev. Groff is leaving as pastor of Emanuel United Methodist Church on Georgia Road.

Fresh California Dates Enhance Summer Salad

By ALICE DENHOFF

With warm breezes stirring through an open window and twilight filtering through your curtains — the summer months coax you to plan fresh meals for family and guests. Perfect indeed, are fresh fruits and salads of all varieties.

The ever-fresh California date adds a bright touch to summer specialties with its rich, nutty flavor and its natural energizing sweetness. California sends us dates that make delightful eating any time of year, so eat and enjoy!

CALIFORNIA FRUIT COMPOSITE

1/2 cup sugar
1 cup water
1/4 teaspoon anise seed
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 cup diced fresh pineapple or unsweetened pineapple chunks
1 cup peeled sliced fresh pear
1 cup diced fresh apple
1 pint basket (2 c.) strawberries sliced in lengthwise halves
1 cup pitted fresh California dates, chopped
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Measure first 4 ingredients in saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring to dissolve sugar; boil 5 minutes. Mix fruit in a shallow baking dish such as a 2-quart baking dish.

Sprinkle lemon juice over fruit and toss.

Chill, covered, in refrigerator 5 to 6 hours, stirring once or twice.

Serve in chilled champagne glasses for compotes. Garnish with a few whole dates, if desired.

Recipe yields 8 servings of 3/4 cup each.

For a main course:

ORIENTAL CRAB SALAD

1 cup pitted fresh California dates
1 (6 1/2 to 7 oz.) can crab meat
1 (16 oz.) can Chinese or chop suey vegetables
1 cup sliced celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup commercial sour cream
1-16 teaspoon cayenne pepper
Chilled crisp lettuce

Snip dates with scissors into bowl, cutting each date crosswise in 4 slices. Drain crabmeat; pick over and remove any cartilage. Flake into bowl with dates. Thoroughly drain vegetables and add to crab mixture. Add next 3 ingredients.

Toss to mix. Cover and chill. Stir together next 3 ingredients; chill.

At serving time, add cream dressing to crab-date mixture; toss to blend. Serve on lettuce. Serves 6.

For a nice snack:

1 cup pitted fresh California dates, finely chopped
1 cup shelled walnuts, chopped
1/2 tablespoon grated fresh or dried orange peel

Developer Halts Stock Trading; Firm Troubled

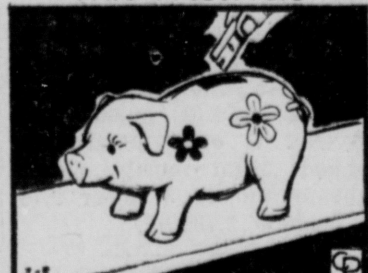

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dynamic Security Corp. voluntarily suspended all trading in its stock Wednesday on the advice of State Securities Commissioner George A. Ward.

Dynamic controls the American International Development Corp. which purchased the Columbus downtown Deshler Hotel site in 1969 but failed to meet a Tuesday deadline for a $600,000 installment payment on the property.

An attorney representing a bank trust for the property declined to say whether foreclosure action would be taken on the $1.8 million mortgage note.

Officers of the firm had been trying for days to obtain financing for the project, plans for which included eventual construction of a skyscraper hotel and office building on the site.

Mrs. John Ater, a member of Clarksburg Grange 2657, was awarded second place in the Class A competition in the National Grange Sewing Contest conducted recently. Mrs. Ater, the former Mary Roby of Kingston, started sewing while in high school. Mr. and Mrs. Ater's farm home is northeast of Clarksburg, along Ater Road off Route 138, in Pickaway County.

Last year, Mrs. Winfred Fulton, also a member of Clarksburg Grange, won top honors at the National Session in Florida.

Mrs. Ater's entry was a beige and white jacket dress in an abstract design print. Both the jacket and dress were lined.

Mrs. Ater is women's activities chairman for her subordinate Grange. She has served as secretary, Flora and lady assistant steward. Mr. Ater is gatekeeper and has served as steward, overseer and master. They have been members of Pomona Grange for 22 years and members of the Clarksburg subordinate 23 years and are sixth degree Grangers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ater are members of the district-winning Ross County Ritual Degree Team.

Mrs. Ater served the last two years as first vice president of the Ohio State Mother's Assn. of Chillicothe and is active in the Women's Society of the Clarksburg United Methodist Church.

The Aters are anticipating helping at the annual Clarksburg Field Day in August.

During the business meeting, those present signed up for the bus trip to Millersburg and surrounding areas scheduled for Oct. 7. Nearly a bus load has already been signed up, but if there are others who wish to go, it may be possible to take a larger bus or even two. Anyone not already signed up may call Mrs. Lorentz at 474-9064.

There will be no meetings during July and August. The next meeting will be held September 24 at Trinity Lutheran Parish House.

Wildcat Cleveland Transit Strike Brings Traffic Snarl

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Union leaders called on the 2,000 Cleveland Transit System employees to end their walkout today as the wildcat strike that has crippled mass transportation in the nation's eighth largest city went into its second day.

Bruce P. Foster, leader of Amalgamated Transit Union Division 268, called a membership meeting today at Public Music Hall to go over terms of a new contract proposal.

Foster wants the drivers to return to work pending a vote on the new agreement which was reached by negotiators Monday, 28 hours before the old three-year contract expired Tuesday midnight.

Foster disclosed terms of the new pact to the membership at a meeting Tuesday night, but after they got the word on contract terms the drivers — without even taking a strike vote — stormed out of the hall to shut down the transit system.

Drivers interviewed by newsmen Wednesday said their reaction to the agreement was "spontaneous" and involved no prior coordination among workers at the system's four garages.

CTS General Manager Robert T. Pollock called the walkout "illegal and irresponsible."

Pollock said he would wait to see how today's membership meeting came out before taking any action. He declined to say what type of action the CTS management was considering to cope with the wildcat strike.

Foster had recommended approval of the contract, which would provide 65-cent hourly pay boosts over a two-year period. In addition, the drivers would receive three cost-of-living increases in the two years.

Financial Pinch Could Kill Planned Railroad Merger

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The financial problems of the Penn Central railroad "could very well" kill the planned merger of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk & Western Railway, President Gregory S. DeVine of the CO-Baltimore and Ohio railroads said Wednesday.

The Penn Central was created in a merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads.

DeVine said he probably would not recommend the proposed merger at current stock prices. He said that when the C&O-NW merger was first announced in 1965, CO stockholders stood to gain about 35 per cent in the exchange of stock.

Market conditions while the merger plan has been before the Interstate Commerce Commission have at times shifted to ratio to $4 or $5 in favor of

Priest's Criticism Of Camp Refuted By Nursery Owner

GENEVA, Ohio (AP) — A Department of Labor in Chicago. Roman Catholic priest's criticisms of living conditions at a migrant labor camp in Geneva were refuted Wednesday by the president of a Mentor nursery which pays to house 22 workers at the camp.

The Rev. Stan Pack, director of the Spanish mission for the Cleveland Catholic Diocese, had called conditions "deplorable" at the camp.

"The men want to stay," Richard M. Boonstra, president of Wayside Gardens Co., said. Boonstra said he visited the camp Wednesday with Raul Vega, Cleveland field representative for the commonwealth of Puerto Rico, to investigate the conditions.

Vega had told Father Pack Tuesday that he would refer the priest's complaints to the Puerto Rican Migration Division of the

Arbitration Agreeable To Firemen

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Striking firemen reportedly have agreed to accept Mayor James H. Alexander's proposal that their dispute with the city be submitted to binding arbitration.

Alexander said late Wednesday night he had been advised by Larry Jones of the firemen's negotiating team that the membership had agreed to arbitration.

City Council's negotiating committee was to meet today to act on the proposal.

Members of Local 109, International Association of Firefighters struck Tuesday night after negotiations over a fringe benefits package broke down.

Fire protection for this city of 45,000 was being provided by Fire Chief Eugene Malloy and three assistants out of a normal 64-man force.

The only major fire reported since the strike began occurred Wednesday night in an empty building on South Third Street. Malloy said arson was suspected.

The Health Volunteer Fire Department and local citizens assisted the depleted Newark force in battling the fire. No damage estimate was available.

Firemen want cash payments for holidays, a 40-hour week, an increased clothing allowance and a wage reopener clause.

Wildcat Cleveland Transit Strike Brings Traffic Snarl

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Union leaders called on the 2,000 Cleveland Transit System employees to end their walkout today as the wildcat strike that has crippled mass transportation in the nation's eighth largest city went into its second day.

Bruce P. Foster, leader of Amalgamated Transit Union Division 268, called a membership meeting today at Public Music Hall to go over terms of a new contract proposal.

Foster wants the drivers to return to work pending a vote on the new agreement which was reached by negotiators Monday, 28 hours before the old three-year contract expired Tuesday midnight.

Foster disclosed terms of the new pact to the membership at a meeting Tuesday night, but after they got the word on contract terms the drivers — without even taking a strike vote — stormed out of the hall to shut down the transit system.

Drivers interviewed by newsmen Wednesday said their reaction to the agreement was "spontaneous" and involved no prior coordination among workers at the system's four garages.

CTS General Manager Robert T. Pollock called the walkout "illegal and irresponsible."

Pollock said he would wait to see how today's membership meeting came out before taking any action. He declined to say what type of action the CTS management was considering to cope with the wildcat strike.

Foster had recommended approval of the contract, which would provide 65-cent hourly pay boosts over a two-year period. In addition, the drivers would receive three cost-of-living increases in the two years.

The present basic rate is $3.75 an hour.

Many traffic jams were reported throughout the city Wednesday because of the sharply increased use of private autos.

Traffic Commissioner Chester Kluzik said the traffic unit had to borrow men from enforcement units to direct heavy traffic at some intersections.

CTS carries nearly 300,000 passengers daily on 850 buses and 90 rapid transit cars that run on rails.

CTS officials said the pay raises plus fringe benefits offered in the proposed contract would cost the system $8 million over the two years. CTS reported a deficit last year of $57,631 on revenues of $29,913,444.

A deficit of as much as $1.2 million has been forecast this year, even without the pay boosts. The system has been seeking state help to solve its problems.

Arbitration Agreeable To Firemen

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Striking firemen reportedly have agreed to accept Mayor James H. Alexander's proposal that their dispute with the city be submitted to binding arbitration.

Alexander said late Wednesday night he had been advised by Larry Jones of the firemen's negotiating team that the membership had agreed to arbitration.

City Council's negotiating committee was to meet today to act on the proposal.

Members of Local 109, International Association of Firefighters struck Tuesday night after negotiations over a fringe benefits package broke down.

Fire protection for this city of 45,000 was being provided by Fire Chief Eugene Malloy and three assistants out of a normal 64-man force.

The only major fire reported since the strike began occurred Wednesday night in an empty building on South Third Street, Malloy said arson was suspected.

The Health Volunteer Fire Department and local citizens assisted the depleted Newark force in battling the fire. No damage estimate was available.

Firemen want cash payments for holidays, a 40-hour week, an increased clothing allowance and a wage reopener clause.

Priest's Criticism Of Camp Refuted By Nursery Owner

GENEVA, Ohio (AP) — A Department of Labor in Chicago Roman Catholic priest's criticisms of living conditions at a migrant labor camp in Geneva were refuted Wednesday by the president of a Mentor nursery which pays to house 22 workers at the camp.

The Rev. Stan Pack, director of the Spanish mission for the Cleveland Catholic Diocese, had called conditions "deplorable" at the camp.

"The men want to stay," Richard M. Boonstra, president of Wayside Gardens Co., said. Boonstra said he visited the camp Wednesday with Raul Vega, Cleveland field representative for the commonwealth of Puerto Rico, to investigate the conditions.

Vega had told Father Pack Tuesday that he would refer the priest's complaints to the Puerto Rican Migration Division of the

Financial Pinch Could Kill Planned Railroad Merger

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The financial problems of the Penn Central railroad "could very well" kill the planned merger of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk & Western Railway, President Gregory S. DeVine of the CO-Baltimore and Ohio railroads said Wednesday.

The Penn Central was created in a merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads.

DeVine said he probably would not recommend the proposed merger at current stock prices. He said that when the C&O-NW merger was first announced in 1965, CO stockholders stood to gain about 35 per cent in the exchange of stock.

Market conditions while the merger plan has been before the Interstate Commerce Commission have at times shifted to ratio to $4 or $5 in favor of NW shareholders, he said.

DeVine said it could take two or three years to complete the merger if it were approved by the ICC and that a second shareholder vote on the plan was likely because of time elapsed since the first announcement.

DeVine said that C&O-B&O business prospects for 1970 appeared good, with second quarter consolidated earnings of $19 million or $2.19 a share, compared with $18.1 million or $2.09 a share the same period last year.

The CO-B&O said second quarter gross revenues for 1970 totaled $248 million, compared with $232 million for the same period last year.

DeVine said a third quarter earnings improvement over 1969 would be "only a matter of cost control" if shipping volume remains the same.

"The continuing demand for metallurgical type coal is so great that we see no cessation of it," he said. "Merchandise is a less predictable sort of thing You get hazy when you get into what the consumer is going to buy."

Service Academies Report Enrollment Is Highest Ever

Dear Abby: You Can't Teach Old Dog New Tricks

DEAR ABBY: I read your column and respect your advice. Now solve this for me. I am a widow. What do you do with a guy who says he loves you, and wants to marry you? He seldom spends any money on me (and he has plenty) and when we're out with people he hardly looks at me, but flirts openly with all the young, good-looking women, and afterwards he tells me how "gorgeous" they are, but never a word about me.

I have gotten mad at him and even told him to get lost several times, but I always forgive him and take him back. I need compliments, too. If I marry him I'm afraid I'll be miserable. He's a good catch, but I think he is a "schmo." What do you think?

DEAR M.L.W.: I think he's a "schmo," too. But if you think that after you marry him he will spend money on you, and quit flirting with other women, and give you the compliments you hunger for, then you're a bigger "schmo" than he is.

DEAR ABBY: Our unmarried daughter is sharing an apartment with an older professional woman of domineering disposition. My husband has a responsible executive position with a large firm and we are both very well educated and have traveled all over the world.

We were invited to meet our daughter at her office, and tour the building. My husband wore an expensive suit and I wore my best looking slacks suit with my prettiest accessories. We wanted our daughter to be proud of us. And we thought she was.

A few days later, my daughter's roommate told me in no uncertain terms that I had "humiliated" my daughter beyond words because I had worn slacks while visiting her office. This was said to me in the presence of my relatives at a luncheon. My daughter just sat there agreeing with the woman. Please tell me if I am wrong to be upset?

DEAR BOTHERED: Your daughter's failure to come to your defense probably bothered you more than the rudeness of her roommate. Leave them to each other and forget it. Slacks are now acceptable for afternoon wear almost everywhere and if that's the worst "humiliation" your daughter ever suffers, she'll be lucky.

DEAR ABBY I disagree with your answer to EARLY BIRD she was "nuts" because she got up at 4:30 a.m. to do her housework. (She said she couldn't sleep.)

I would say that "Early Bird" is basically selfish. I wonder if perhaps her reasoning is only an excuse.

In our marriage, some of our most meaningful experiences have occurred in the early hours of the morning. I value the closeness my husband and I have too much to deny him (and miss out myself) on such close communication.

Maybe the problem would be solved if "Early Bird" would climb back into bed about half an hour or so before she knows her husband had to get up.

I can't imagine any happily

WASHINGTON (AP) — Student opposition to the Vietnam war apparently has not dimmed the drawing power of the nation's three service academies:

CONFIDENTIAL TO D.J.: No child was ever "spoiled" by too much love. Too little discipline, yes, but not too much love.

they report the highest enrollment in history this year.

Total enrollment is expected to reach 12,848 and incoming freshmen classes will include a record number of Negroes and other minority group members.

The increased enrollment dates back to 1961 and reflects the desire of the late President John F. Kennedy to significantly bolster the strength of both West Point and the Air Force Academy.

Three years later, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed legislation increasing the cadet strength of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. from 2,529 to about 4,500—the authorized enrollment level of the brigade of midshipmen at Annapolis.

The Naval Academy's enrollment was higher because it had fewer Reserve Officer Training Corps detachments on the nation's campuses to train officers.

For the first time in its 168-year history, West Point now has a cadet strength of more than 4,000 with this week's arrival of the class of 1974.

At the Air Force Academy, 1,438 freshmen—the largest in the school's 15-year history—join 2,713 upper classmen. The Navy said it expects a class of 1,400 and total enrollment of 4,517.

Opposition to the Vietnam war apparently had little effect on the service academies' search for cadets.

The Air Force said more than 6,000—the largest ever—applied for admission. The Army examined about 6,000 of the more than 30,000 candidates who submitted inquiries.

The enrollments also reflect the results of the Defense Department's efforts launched two years ago to attract more young men from minority groups.

The class of 1974 gives the service academies a total minority enrollment of 299, up from 116 in 1968.

Hanoi Rips U.S. Policy

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam charged Wednesday that the United States, despite the withdrawal of its ground forces from Cambodia, is prolonging the war in that country by aiding forces there opposing the Communists.

In the first North Vietnamese reaction to President Nixon's report Tuesday on Cambodia, Radio Hanoi cited Nixon's promise to aid the Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol and other governments sending forces into Cambodia to fight for the government.

"It is clear that although U.S. ground troops have been withdrawn, the U.S. is prolonging and expanding the war in Cambodia through the service of the mercenary clique supplied by reactionary authorities in Southeast Asia," said the North Vietnamese radio. "Unquestionably this move is an implementation of Nixon's doctrine of making Asians fight Asians for the realization of U.S. neocolonialism in Asia."

The broadcast said the U.S. operation in Cambodia "has met with disastrous failure... yet in his June 30th report Nixon again talks about military wins which have never existed and played his numbers game by producing figures about so-called supplies seized and destroyed by U.S. troops in Cambodia."

Prison Cook Gets Taste Of Freedom

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — A prison cook who wanted to consult on Wednesday's menu got a taste of freedom, says warden Carl Hocker of the Nevada State Prison.

Hocker said Robert Dean Dickey, 27, serving an eight-year term for burglary, was missing at noon head count Tuesday and probably hid himself in a delivery truck. Tuesday was Dickey's day off, but he went to the kitchen anyway to consult about the next day's menu, Hocker said.

A check of trucks failed to turn up Dickey and an all-points bulletin was issued.

Draft Call For August Only 10,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced today an August draft call of 10,000, the lowest monthly draft call since last December when 9,000 men were summoned to duty.

In announcing this, a Pentagon spokesman said it was possible that there could be a few months at the end of this year in which there would be no draft, as the military further reduces its total strength.

"It's an administrative possibility," said Jerry Friedheim, in explaining that the Pentagon now expects to draft between 11,000 and 17,000 men this year.

Friedheim, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, said that with the August call, 125,000 men will have been called to duty, leaving only 25,000 to 45,000 to be called over the next four months to reach the expected total for the year. Thus, he said, draft calls for the remainder of the year will be low and may possibly be able to be cut to zero for one or two months.

The Defense Department said the decrease in draft calls "is attributable to the redeployments being made as a result of progress in the Vietnamization program and subsequent reductions in military strength."

Contract Is Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has awarded a $22.6 million contract to Arundel Corp. and L. E. Dixon & Co. of Baltimore, Md., for construction work on the Hannibal Locks and Dam on the Ohio River in Monroe County, Ohio, and Wetzel County, W. Va., Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, announced Tuesday.

$1 MILLION PLUS—This painting "Les Pseuses," by French artist Georges Seurat, went for $1,003,200 to New York art dealer Richard Feigen at Christie's auction in London. War Critics Are Outraged By Presidential Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's criticism of the Senate's debate and subsequent passage of restrictions on future U.S. operations in Cambodia has drawn a strong blast from a leading critic of his Southeast Asia policies.

Charging Nixon's reasoning "turns the Constitution upside down," Sen. George S. McGovern Wednesday night demanded equal television-radio time to answer presidential attacks on his antiwar proposal. McGovern responded after Nixon's hour-long interview on the three national radio-television networks.

In criticizing the Senate, Nixon predicted House-Senate conferees "will be more responsible" and modify the Cooper-Church amendment that would curb the U.S. military role in Cambodia.

"Fortunately," he said, "our founding fathers had great wisdom when they set up two houses of Congress."

But Senate conferees, all but one of whom supported the Cooper-Church amendment, have pledged to stand firm against major modifications.

Nixon had barely been off the air when McGovern issued a statement charging the President's "reasoning turns the Constitution upside down."

He said "it is imperative that the three networks now provide equal time" for himself and Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., to explain their proposal to cut off funds for all U.S. operations in Vietnam.

The South Dakota senator added: "The President clearly does not understand either the constitutional role of the Congress or the specific provisions of the McGovern-Hatfield amendment for ending the war."

The President mentioned their proposal in replying to a question on whether setting a terminal date for U.S. withdrawal would help speed Vietnam peace negotiations.

"I am convinced that if we were to tell the enemy now, the North Vietnamese, that within, as for example, in the McGovern-Hatfield resolution, that by the end of this year all Americans will be gone, well, I can assure you the enemy isn't going to negotiate in Paris at all," Nixon said.

Institute Of Cooperation Slated Aug. 2-5

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly 4,000 people are expected to attend the summer meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Ohio State University Aug. 2-5.

Theme of the conference will be cooperative education and the role of cooperatives in rural development, community affairs and environmental control.

Iron Furnace Restoration Scheduled

Plans to complete the restoration of Buckeye Furnace State Memorial in eastern Jackson County near the new James A. Rhodes Highway are being readied under the supervision of The Ohio Historical Society.

The $157,000 program, the second and last phase of the restoration of the 1857 charcoal iron furnace, includes the reconstruction of a 20 x 50 foot, heavy timber framed engine house, a general store, completion of the iron master's house, a combination blacksmith shop - service building, and a foundry. The program also includes construction of a parking lot, water supply system, and sewage treatment facility.

Specifications and plans for the structures are due to be completed August 1 by project architect Dallas H. Harder, A.I.A., Columbus. The Ohio Department of Public Works will let construction contracts. Construction work is planned to resume this fall.

Phase 1 of the furnace restoration was completed in 1968 by reconstruction of the charcoal shed, charging house, casting shed, and iron master's house.

When completed in mid or late 1971, Buckeye Furnace State Memorial will be one of a very few Midwestern historical attractions devoted entirely to the portrayal of an important historic industry.

Jacob Paul Honored By Masons

Jacob Paul of Lakewood, Ohio and formerly of Circleville was honored recently as a 50-year member of three Circleville Masonic Bodies.

Guy O. Sark and Donald Moss, past presiding officers of the local groups, traveled to Lakewood last Friday to make the presentations.

Paul was presented 50-year pins for membership in Pickaway Lodge No. 23, Free and Accepted Masons; Circleville Chapter No. 20, Royal Arch Masons and Tyran Council No. 60, Royal and Select Masters.

To be recognized as a 50-year member in three Masonic Bodies is an honor only few attain, Sark commented when making the presentations.

Paul owned and operated a variety store in the Masonic Temple for many years prior to his moving to Gloucester, in 1920. Shortly thereafter he moved to Lakewood where he operated a ladies dress shop for nearly 45 years prior to his retirement two years ago.

Iron Furnace Restoration Scheduled

Plans to complete the restoration of Buckeye Furnace State Memorial in eastern Jackson County near the new James A. Rhodes Highway are being readied under the supervision of The Ohio Historical Society.

The $157,000 program, the second and last phase of the restoration of the 1857 charcoal iron furnace, includes the reconstruction of a 20 x 50 foot, heavy timber framed engine house, a general store, completion of the iron master's house, a combination blacksmith shop - service building, and a foundry. The program also includes construction of a parking lot, water supply system, and sewage treatment facility.

Specifications and plans for the structures are due to be completed August 1 by project architect Dallas H. Harder, A.I.A., Columbus. The Ohio Department of Public Works will let construction contracts. Construction work is planned to resume this fall.

Phase 1 of the furnace restoration was completed in 1968 by reconstruction of the charcoal shed, charging house, casting shed, and iron master's house.

When completed in mid or late 1971, Buckeye Furnace State Memorial will be one of a very few Midwestern historical attractions devoted entirely to the portrayal of an important historic industry.

Jacob Paul Honored By Masons

Jacob Paul of Lakewood, Ohio and formerly of Circleville was honored recently as a 50-year member of three Circleville Masonic Bodies.

Guy O. Sark and Donald Moss, past presiding officers of the local groups, traveled to Lakewood last Friday to make the presentations.

Paul was presented 50-year pins for membership in Pickaway Lodge No. 23, Free and Accepted Masons; Circleville Chapter No. 20, Royal Arch Masons and Tyran Council No. 60, Royal and Select Masters.

To be recognized as a 50-year member in three Masonic Bodies is an honor only few attain, Sark commented when making the presentations.

Paul owned and operated a variety store in the Masonic Temple for many years prior to his moving to Gloucester, in 1920. Shortly thereafter he moved to Lakewood where he operated a ladies dress shop for nearly 45 years prior to his retirement two years ago.

Goodyear Calls 10,000 Tires

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The recall of about 10,000 heavy duty truck tires manufactured in England by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. was announced Wednesday by Goodyear.

The company said the tires "could be susceptible to tread separation under severe highway use." It said the 12-ply, size 100.00-20 Custom Hi-Miler truck tires were made at its Waverhampton, England, plant and imported to the United States to meet a temporary production shortage.

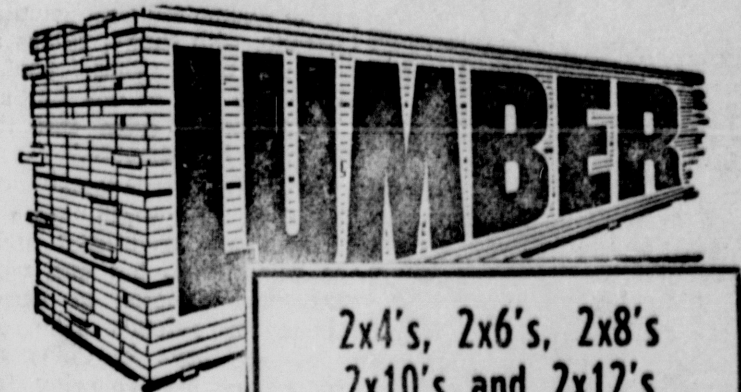

The company said the tires being recalled were identifiable by the legend "Made in Great Britain" on sidewalls beneath the Goodyear name and had serial numbers starting with JKOE, UKOE, UKOE, JEUE, JKOE, UKOE, JKOE, UKOE, TOE WOE, UKOE, UKOE, EFOE, and WFOE.

Most States Ban Fireworks Sales

By JERRY KLEIN
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

France may set off tons of fireworks to celebrate Bastille Day come July 14. Switzerland may blast off on Aug. 11 to mark the anniversary of the Swiss Confederation. Britain will blast away on Nov. 5 to celebrate Guy Fawkes Day. And fireworks will be in fashion in Latin America next spring, when for example Cuba sets them off in honor of Easter and Cuba in honor of its Communist revolution.

AERIAL — Aerial fireworks explode over the White House in a Washington, D. C., Independence Day display.

Nevertheless, fireworks are almost completely fished out for our own Fourth of July!

According to the National Fire Protection Association, almost every state in the union now outlaw firecrackers, so Independence Day will be as "safe and sane" as patriotic exuberance permits.

It used to be that every July 4 killed or injured a number of citizens. A handful may be hurt by holiday pyrotechnics this year, too, but comparatively few.

Besides the many individual state statutes outlawing fireworks, there also is federal legislation banning shipment of bootleg "crackers" into any area where their sale is prohibited by local laws.

In New York State, for instance, fireworks are only "for the birds." The law makes it a misdemeanor to possess, sell or explode the noisemakers. However, the attorney general has stated one exception.

Farmers may set them off to scare birds out of grain fields and orchards!

Looking back it's difficult to say just when — or why —

Americans decided that the best way of celebrating the Declaration of Independence was to set off fireworks.

Certainly, there weren't any when the document first was signed or four days afterward, on July 8, 1776, when the Declaration was read to the public in Philadelphia. The people may have cheered, rung bells or paraded through town, but there was nary a torpedo or skyrocket fired off in exultation.

One of the signers of the Declaration, John Adams, made some recommendations on how the holiday ought to be celebrated, but he made no mention of fireworks: "It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games and sports, bells, guns, bonfires from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward, forevermore."

Even in Adams' day, however, fireworks were an ancient and traditional means of celebration, but one which had been opposed at various times for safety's sake. For centuries, boys in China and India had been blowing their fingers off by igniting crude mixtures of charcoal and saltpeter. When the Chinese added sulphur to the solution — thus forming gunpowder — they really began to get a bang out of it.

Today's trend is to keep fireworks safely in the hands of municipal authorities — as they were kept centuries ago. In the Middle Ages, in fact, there were professional fireworks masters who were on the public payrolls.

An ear-splitting display designed to mark the birth of a prince, for instance, might send up $500,000 in smoke within a few minutes. Famed artist Rubens was an old master of pyrotechnics as well as painting, and engravings still show the dazzling display he designed to mark a visit to Antwerp by the Infante Ferdinand of Spain.

If you are one of the proud parents planning to take Junior to a municipal fireworks display this July 4, heed the warning given by the 19th century French artist, Daumier. He made a print showing a disgruntled father hurrying his son away from what was supposed to have been a glorious fireworks display.

"It never fails," the father is saying to the child, "You go to see the fireworks and the only thing that works is the rain!"

To Earth-based observers, the sun appears a hundred billion times brighter than any other star, National Geographic says. However, the sun would seem puny if matched at the same distance against such brilliant stars as Rigel, which is 15,000 times more luminous.

Deny Philadelphia Plan Scuttled

CINCINNATI (AP) — Under secretary of Labor Arthur Fletcher refutes charges that the Nixon administration has agreed to wreck the Philadelphia Plan as part of a deal with construction workers.

Fletcher said Wednesday that he wanted to "make it very clear that the Nixon administration has made no deal with the 'hard hats' to destroy the Philadelphia Plan."

He flew here from Washington to make the statements at a news conference at the 61st annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. During the news conference, he engaged in a debate with the man who made the charges, Herbert Hill, the NAACP's labor director.

Hill said Tuesday that the administration is slowing down enforcement of federal guidelines requiring that minimum numbers of Negroes be hired for certain public construction projects in exchange for labor support of United States activity in the Indochina War.

This is not true," Fletcher, sometimes shouting, said in response to the charges. "There were no deals. I have two problems—convincing government agencies who handle the contracts that we are enforcing the rules, and the lack of enforcement personnel."

"It takes time to move government," Fletcher said. "I am hiring professional people to conduct enforcement and by 1972 all the things we promised to do will be accomplished."

Another administration official, Leonard Grment, special consultant to the President, sent telegram to Bishop Stephen Spottswood, NAACP Board chairman, who had said the administration is the first since that of Woodrow Wilson that could "rightly be characterized as anti-Negro."

Garment denied the state-ments made Monday night in the opening session of the convention and then Spottswood replied that his criticism "is sustained by the record."

"On equal employment activity we believe that the administration stands indicted for its failure to advocate cease and desist orders for the equal employment Opportunity Commission."

"Our criticism may have been uncomfortable but we deny that it has been divisive," Bishop Spottswood continued.

In the fourth day of the convention today, Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers Union, was scheduled to deliver the keynote address.

Negro Congresswoman Rips Discrimination In Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Male politicians depend on women to win elections but being a woman is as great a political handicap as being black, says a Negro congresswoman.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat from New York City, told a House subcommittee Wednesday that without women's efforts no man could be elected to Congress.

"Without his thousands of women volunteers the American party system would not work," Mrs. Chisholm said. "It would break down in a confusion of unanswered letters, unmade phone calls, unkept appointments, unwritten speeches, and unheld meetings."

Mrs. Chisholm, a Negro, was one of several witnesses to testify before a subcommittee headed by Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore.

Most States Ban Fireworks Sales

By JERRY KLEIN
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

France may set off tons of fireworks to celebrate Bastille Day come July 14. Switzerland may blast off on Aug. 11 to mark the anniversary of the Swiss Confederation. Britain will blast away on Nov. 5 to celebrate Guy Fawkes Day. And fireworks will be in fashion in Latin America next spring, when for example Cuba sets them off in honor of Easter and Cuba in honor of its Communist revolution.

AERIAL — Aerial fireworks explode over the White House in a Washington, D. C., Independence Day display.

Nevertheless, fireworks are almost completely banned in our own Fourth of July.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, almost every state in the union now outlaw firecrackers, so Independence Day will be as "safe and sane" as patriotic exuberance permits.

It used to be that every July 4 killed or injured a number of citizens. A handful may be hurt by holiday pyrotechnics this year, too, but comparatively few.

Besides the many individual state statutes outlawing fireworks, there also is federal legislation banning shipment of bootleg "crackers" into any area where their sale is prohibited by local laws.

In New York State, for instance, fireworks are only "for the birds." The law makes it a misdemeanor to possess, sell or explode the noisemakers. However, the attorney general has stated one exception.

Farmers may set them off to scare birds out of grain fields and orchards!

Looking back it's difficult to say just when — or why —

Americans decided that the best way of celebrating the Declaration of Independence was to set off fireworks.

Certainly, there weren't any when the document first was signed or four days afterward, on July 8, 1776, when the Declaration was read to the public in Philadelphia. The people may have cheered, rung bells or paraded through town, but there was nary a torpedo or skyrocket fired off in exultation.

One of the signers of the Declaration, John Adams, made some recommendations on how the holiday ought to be celebrated, but he made no mention of fireworks: "It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games and sports, bells, guns, bonfires from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward, forevermore."

Even in Adams' day, however, fireworks were an ancient and traditional means of celebration, but one which had been opposed at various times for safety's sake. For centuries, boys in China and India had been blowing their fingers off by igniting crude mixtures of charcoal and saltpeter. When the Chinese added sulphur to the solution — thus forming gunpowder — they really began to get a bang out of it.

Today's trend is to keep fireworks safely in the hands of municipal authorities — as they were kept centuries ago. In the Middle Ages, in fact, there were professional fireworks masters who were on the public payrolls.

An ear-splitting display designed to mark the birth of a prince, for instance, might send up $500,000 in smoke within a few minutes. Famed artist Rubens was an old master of pyrotechnics as well as painting, and engravings still show the dazzling display he designed to mark a visit to Antwerp by the Infante Ferdinand of Spain.

If you are one of the proud parents planning to take Junior to a municipal fireworks display this July 4, heed the warning given by the 19th century French artist, Daumier. He made a print showing a disgruntled father hurrying his son away from what was supposed to have been a glorious fireworks display.

"It never fails," the father is saying to the child. "You go to see the fireworks and the only thing that works is the rain!"

To Earth-based observers, the sun appears a hundred billion times brighter than any other star, National Geographic says. However, the sun would seem puny if matched at the same distance against such brilliant stars as Rigel, which is 15,000 times more luminous.

Deny Philadelphia Plan Scuttled

CINCINNATI (AP) — Under secretary of Labor Arthur Fletcher refutes charges that the Nixon administration has agreed to wreck the Philadelphia Plan as part of a deal with construction workers.

Fletcher said Wednesday that he wanted to "make it very clear that the Nixon administration has made no deal with the 'hard hats' to destroy the Philadelphia Plan."

He flew here from Washington to make the statements at a news conference at the 61st annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. During the news conference, he engaged in a debate with the man who made the charges, Herbert Hill, the NAACP's labor director.

Hill said Tuesday that the administration is slowing down enforcement of federal guidelines requiring that minimum numbers of Negroes be hired for certain public construction projects in exchange for labor support of United States activity in the Indochina War.

This is not true," Fletcher, sometimes shouting, said in response to the charges. "There were no deals. I have two problems—convincing government agencies who handle the contracts that we are enforcing the rules, and the lack of enforcement personnel."

"It takes time to move government," Fletcher said. "I am hiring professional people to conduct enforcement and by 1972 all the things we promised to do will be accomplished."

Another administration official, Leonard Grment, special consultant to the President, sent telegram to Bishop Stephen Spottwood, NAACP Board chairman, who had said the administration is the first since that of Woodrow Wilson that could "rightly be characterized as anti-Negro."

Garment denied the statements made Monday night in the opening session of the convention and then Spottwood replied that his criticism "is sustained by the record."

"On equal employment activity we believe that the administration stands indicted for its failure to advocate cease and desist orders for the equal employment Opportunity Commission."

"Our criticism may have been uncomfortable but we deny that it has been divisive," Bishop Spottwood continued.

In the fourth day of the convention today, Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers Union, was scheduled to deliver the keynote address.

Negro Congresswoman Rips Discrimination In Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Male politicians depend on women to win elections but being a woman is as great a political handicap as being black, says a Negro congresswoman.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat from New York City, told a House subcommittee Wednesday that without women's efforts no man could be elected to Congress.

"Without his thousands of women volunteers the American party system would not work," Mrs. Chisholm said. "It would break down in a confusion of unanswered letters, unmade phone calls, unkept appointments, unwritten speeches, and unheld meetings."

Mrs. Chisholm, a Negro, was one of several witnesses to testify before a subcommittee headed by Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore.

sponsor of legislation calling on the government to attack sexual discrimination as it has attacked racial discrimination.

Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, who is a member of the U.S. commission on Civil Rights and a Negro, said discrimination against racial minorities "makes the burden of female status seem paltry in comparison."

But Mrs. Chisholm said sex discrimination is just as degrading, indefensible and infuriating as discrimination because of race, and both must be eliminated to produce a just society.

"Blacks and women have both been taught from childhood—because our society is run by and for white males—that they are inherently inferior," she said.

"To keep them in their place, the same characteristics are imputed to women as to blacks—that they are more childish, emotional and irresponsible than men that they are of lower intelligence than men, that they need protection, that they are happiest in routine, undemanding jobs, and that they lack ambition and executive ability."

Daybook of America 1770-1870-1970

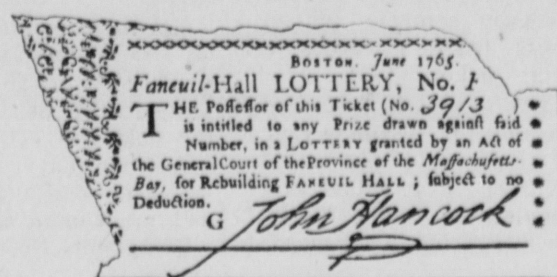

By CLARK KINNAIRD

No. 60 Faneuil Hall, best known rallying place for Boston patriots in 1770, immortalized a man who had no intention of its being a "Cradle of American Liberty," as claimed by New England historians disinterested in public forums in the most populous colony, Virginia.

Peter Faneuil, born at New Rochelle, N.Y., in 1700 of French Huguenot parentage, entered an uncle's mercantile enterprise at Boston when 18; he became heir to the uncle's possessions after 20 years.

When he offered in 1740 to spend some of the fortune on a public market house and town hall as a gift to the town, so strong was the opposition it won a vote by a majority of only seven Boston worthies.

Faneuil died a bachelor in 1743. Fire in 1761 was to destroy all except the walls. Reconstruction had to be financed by a public lottery, a common means in England of raising monies for public improvements and real estate exploitation. A History of English Lotteries, by John Ashton, newly reissued in the U.S. by Singing Tree Press, tells of the device's use in 1612 to finance development of the Jamestown colony. Subsequently, lotteries fostered churches, colleges, canals, fortifications in America. The Continental Congress resorted to one to raise money for the War of Independence.

OSU Starts Shortened Class Aimed At Training Doctors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The largest class began Wednesday the shortest curriculum aimed at training doctors in the Ohio State University College of Medicine.

Dr. Richard Meiling, dean of the college, said 216 students have begun a three-year rather than four-year medical program and will be introduced to patients at an early date.

Meiling, speaking to 1,000 students and parents attending a convocation in the new medical teaching center, said, "People are the stimuli from which medicine has developed from the mystic of pre-historic man to the science of the 20th century."

No matter what field—preventive, curative or rehabilitative medicine—the students plan to study, he said, their principal subject will be man, his environment, activity and role in society.

The class which begins in the summer rather than the fall is 66 students more than the previous largest class in the history of the college.

The large class and shortened study, Meiling said, are due to new teaching facilities.

He said despite the shortened study plan, incoming students will actually have three more

Plans Pushed To Restore Adena Area

Plans to complete the restored plantation complex of 6th governor Thomas Worthington at Adena State Memorial, Chillicothe, are being pushed by The Ohio Historical Society.

Detailed specifications and drawings are to be completed for construction bidding on August 1, Daniel R. Porter, Society director, announced.

The plans include a single story, frame spring house of two rooms; the "McCormick residence," a story and half frame building originally the cabinetmaker's shop and house; completion of the main barn; a separate stable structure; and a modern service building for the expanded public facility.

Fences, walks, roads and parking lot will also be incorporated into the plans. A budget of $162,000 is allocated to complete the historical reconstruction adjacent to the restored mansion and gardens.

Project architect is Dallas H. Harder, A.I.A., Columbus. Construction, slated to begin this fall, will be bid and supervised by the Ohio Department of Public Works.

weeks of instruction.

The extra time, he said, comes from a cut in vacations, which the new students said attracted them to the program.

One male student said, "You get restless in the summer. Besides it's better to go to school now with the difficulty of getting jobs."

Meiling assured the new students there was no reason they could not get a medical degree.

"You're not medical students, but candidates for a degree in medicine," he said.

He said the faculty was particularly happy to have a large class to meet the increasing needs of the American public for doctors.

In the past, he said, there has been a division of studies into preclinical and clinical years, which he termed an artificial separation.

He said it was developed at a time when medicine overshadowed the scientific knowledge of clinical medical practice.

"Society has in recent years expressed little concern for your curriculum content or your study program," he said, "except to almost unanimously declare the length of time involved in medical education is excessive and must be curtailed."

Janis Denies Strikers Got Paid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Director Martin A. Janis of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction says sick pay was not authorized for Hawthornden State Hospital employees who participated in a strike this spring.

Only those employees who met department regulations by submitting doctors affidavits certifying they were sick were paid, Janis said, adding that more than 150 workers received no compensation.

Janis was replying to charges leveled Wednesday by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association.

OCSEA Executive Secretary James F. Marshall accused the department of granting sick leave or retroactive vacation pay to striking employees, and implied his group might seek legal action over the pay issue.

"We are appalled at the lack of action taken against individuals and organizations which brazenly disregard your regulations," Marshall told Janis in a letter.

He expressed disillusionment over "departmental apathy toward the many OCSEA members who worked night and day during the strike to assure proper patient care."

Cincinnati Man Fights Order To Active Duty

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati man is challenging the U. S. Navy's right to order him to train for active duty because he claims to have become a conscientious objector since joining the Naval Reserve.

William Hollingsworth, 25, filed a petition for habeas corpus Wednesday in the U. S. District Court here. He asked that the court prevent the Navy from arresting him or taking him to a training center at Great Lakes, Ill.

The petition said that Hollingsworth had applied for conscientious objector status but was ordered to report to the center for active duty by Sunday.

He said in the petition that he has been told if he does not report by Sunday, he will be considered a delinquent and orders will be issued to arrest him and take him there. He also contended that he was informed if he did not report within 30 days after Sunday, the Navy will consider him a deserter.

FOP Rips Hummel And Plum; Harr Hurls Perfect Shutout

FOP blasted Hummel and Plum, 2-4, to keep a tight rein on the first spot in the Mosquito league Wednesday night. In another battle, Mac's shutout Circle Auto Parts, 19-0.

The Mini League front-runners tagged 20 hits in the fray including 13 extra base hits. Rick LeMaster wielded the big bat for the winners ripping a grand slam homer, a three-bagger, and a double.

Pat Poorman also nailed a grand slam roundtripper, Kevin Woltz connected for three doubles, Paul Brown hit two two-sackers, John Dean and Poorman tallied two each and Herb Gaines cracked one.

The combined pitching magic of Woltz and Poorman proved too much for the Insurancemen as they garnered only two hits and ten walks. The two hurlers fanned 11 batters in the tilt.

Dwight Imler and Jeff Rase were stuck with the loss on the hill for the Hummel and Plum "g." Together they whiffed five walked 11 and allowed 20 hits.

John Harr was the whole story for the Mac's win over Circle Auto. He hurled a perfect no hitter fanning 16 batters and allowing only four walks. He also collected on a homer and two doubles at the plate for the winners.

Rick Fox nailed two triples and Schalbach tallied a two-sacker.

Johnson was the losing CAP pitcher. He allowed the Mac's squad 23 hits, and eight walks while striking out eight batters.

Stout played with the prep squad, ages 13 and 14, and Resler was a member of the junior squad, ages nine to 12.

Resler was presented a trophy for being the "Most Valuable Player" in his group.

Both boys received instructions from Fred Taylor, head basketball coach at Ohio State University, and Bob Burkholder, assistant coach at OSU.

They will enter the eighth grade next year and have their sights set on making the junior high school basketball team.

Baseball Players Unhappy With Mod-Sod

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — While artificial turf has contributed to an assault on records in track and provides uniform playing conditions in football, the only thing it has done for major league baseball so far is stir a heated controversy.

But, in a day when baseball is struggling to retain its image as the nation's No. 1 sport, it also may provide the one ingredient almost all members of the sport's hierarchy feel can stimulate renewed interest—more runs.

Artificial turf now is installed or is planned for seven major league baseball parks housing the Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati, Houston, Philadelphia,

Pittsburgh, St. Louis and San Francisco. Three major problems have arisen:

—The surfaces are extremely hot, as high as 123 degrees in St. Louis.

—Players complain about sore legs, and talk about shortened careers.

—There is a threat to the art and strategy involved in bunting.

That there is a legitimate complaint about the heat was established recently when Bill Simons, the Cardinals' equipment man, took the temperature of the man-made grass surface in St. Louis' Busch Stadium.

His thermometer showed that on a day when the official temperature was 90 degrees, the temperature on the surface of the field was 123.

And the players who have labeled the artificial turf Mod Sod had a new name for it—Hot Sod.

Complaint No. 2 has come mostly from pitchers.

"It's hard to run on," says Bob Gibson of the Cardinals. "Artificial turf will shorten the careers of some players, especially where it covers the entire field as in Cincinnati," says Philadelphia pitcher Jim Bunning.

Don Segar, the Philadelphia trainer, supports the contention that it's harder on a player's legs. He says the Phillies are sore in the calves of their legs and achilles tendon area for three or four days after playing on synthetic surfaces.

As for complaint No. 3, Westrum, former manager of the New York Mets now a coach with the San Francisco Giants, says:

"It will eliminate the bunt because the balls roll so fast."

Kochheiser Tops Savings Bank, 15-7

Kochheiser's topped the Savings Bank, 15-7, to keep a one game hold on the Pony League action.

Phil Roll was the winning moundman fanning 12, walking eight and allowing six hits. Rick Ramsey and Jim Brown took the loss allowing ten hits and ten walks while whiffing six.

Ramsey hit a double for the Savings Bank squad.

Palmer Hurls Baltimore Past Cleveland; Wins 3-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer, on a nodding acquaintance with almost as many doctors as ball players, has completed half the 1970 baseball season without applying for medical insurance.

"I just might make it through the whole year without being injured," the Baltimore right-hander said Wednesday night after hurling the Orioles to a 3-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

"Of course," he added, teasing reporters fully aware of his extensive medical history, "I do have a pulled leg muscle."

He was only half kidding. He hurt his leg in Washington last week and aggravated the injury against the Indians.

The 24-year-old right-hander can't help but make jokes about his almost annual trips to the disabled list. His teammates won't let him forget, and earlier this season someone placed a mattress from a baby's crib atop his locker.

With two Cleveland runners in scoring position, Palmer retired Eddie Leon and pinch hitter Lou Klimchok on called strikes to complete his 10th game in 19 starts and bring his record to 11-5.

Three doubles by Brooks Robinson, two of them tainted, paced Baltimore's 11-hit attack against loser Rick Austin, 1-1, and Phil Hennigan.

Robinson reached second base when his high fly in the second inning was lost in the twilight by center fielder Ted Uhlaender, and scored on a single by Dave Johnson.

Baltimore made it 2-0 in the third when Frank Robinson rapped a run-scoring single following a double by Boog Powell.

In the fourth, Brooks Robinson's bad-hop bouncer off third baseman Graig Nettles' glove went for another double, and Andy Etchebarren singled him home.

The Indians made at least one hit in each of the final six innings against Palmer, but didn't advance a runner past second base until the ninth.

Catcher Ray Fosse had one of Cleveland's eight hits, a sixth inning single which extended his hitting streak to 22 games - tying California's Sandy Alomar for the longest streak in the American League this year.

Donna Caponi Sees No Title Problems

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Donna Caponi says the U.S. Women's Open Golf Tournament opening here today poses no particular pressure for her even though she wears the 1969 crown.

"I've never defended a title before, so I don't know what it's like," said the 25-year-old brunette while practicing on the No. 10 hole Wednesday afternoon.

Laurelville Tops Saltcreek, 23-1

In Tri-County Little League action, Laurelville topped Saltcreek, 23-1.

Roger Moore was the winning hurler tossing a no-hitter until the fifth stanza. Moore fanned ten, and walked six.

Hunter tagged a three-sacker for the Saltcreek "9".

Welvin and Imler suffered the loss allowing 19 hits and five walks whiffing six would be hitters.

NEW YORK (AP) — While artificial turf has contributed to an assault on records in track and provides uniform playing conditions in football, the only

But, in a day when baseball is struggling to retain its image as the nation's No. 1 sport, it also may provide the one ingredient almost all members of the

Artificial turf now is installed or is planned for seven major league baseball parks housing the Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati, Houston, Philadelphia,

—The surfaces are extremely hot, as high as 123 degrees in St. Louis.

—There is a threat to the art and strategy involved in bunting.

That there is a legitimate complaint about the heat was established recently when Bill Simons, the Cardinals' equipment man, took the temperature of the man-made grass surface in St. Louis' Busch Stadium.

Sugar Bare Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sugar Bare covered the one-mile course in a new lifetime mark of 2:00 1-5 Wednesday night to win the featured race at Scioto Downs and return $5.20, $2.60 and $2.40.

Shiaway Vancy paid $2.40 and $2.40 for second and Nauty Jane was worth $2.80 for show.

Lynne Johnston and Bug Fve combined (3-8) for a $69.40 daily double payoff. The 2-4 quinella was worth $59.40.

Attendance was 4,244; handle $195,938.

That aspect of artificial turf contains within it the major plus factor as far as the nature of the game is concerned—for there is little doubt that hard-hit blls ski pb yielders faster on mod-sod.

Baseball has conducted several experiments recently in spring training and on the minor league level in an attempt to find methods to increase scoring without significantly changing the structure of the game — and artificial turf just might be the answer.

"The artificial turf is much faster and balls that normally would be fielded will get past the infielders," Pete Rose of Cincinnati explains. "I expect my batting average will be 10 points higher than usual."

Thinclads Victorious For U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Track and field stars from the United States were victorious Wednesday night in international meets in Italy and Finland but the only American entries in a third meet in Sweden placed third and fifth in the discus.

At Helsinki, America's Paul Gibson won the 110-meter hurdles with a 14.3 clocking and placed second in the 200-meter spring at 21.7.

American Jay Silvester won the most prestigious event at Milan, the discus throw named in memory of Italy's late Adolfo Consolini, an Olympic performer. Consolini's 12-year-old son handed two trophies to Silvester for his winning 209.7 effort.

Also at Milan, Charlie Green of the United States won the 100 meters in 10.3 and teammate Lee Evans captured the 400-meter event in a 45.5 clocking.

Former world record holder John Pannel of the United States was first in the Milan pole vault with a 17-foot effort. He tried to top the current world mark of 17-10 1/2 held by Wolfgang Nordwig of East Germany but failed in three attempts at 18-2.

Only disappointing performance of the American squad at Milan came from Villanova's Marty Liquori, who finished third in the 1500-meter race behind Italians Franco Arese, 3:39.1, and Gianni del Buono, 3:39.3, with a 3:39.3. The U.S.'s John Dobroth was third in the high jump with a 6-8 1/2 leap.

Oilers Win Round

Circleville Oil blasted C. E. Wardell's, 17-3, to win the first round of the Circleville Slow Pitch League. The Oilers took the honors without a defeat on their record.

Glanton, Morris, Boyer and Ankrom all blasted four baggers in the contest.

Helms Homer Leads Reds Over Braves, 9-2

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Years and years from now, when Tommy Helms gathers his grandchildren around him, he can tell them about the first homer his team, the Cincinnati

Reds, hit in their new Riverfront Stadium way back in 1970. He'll tell about the power packed Reds' lineup that moved into the new ballpark that year. Tony Perez had 27 homers when they made the move, Johnny Bench had 25 and

Lee May 19. Homers were a Cincinnati trademark that year. "But the first one, grandpa, who hit the first one?" the kids will ask Helms. And a smile will crease his face when he reports, "Why it was me. Honest, I did it."

Helms will have to dig out his clippings to prove it because, frankly, homers are hardly his thing. But he did indeed slug the Reds' very first one in their new ballpark Wednesday night and it helped Cincinnati rip Atlanta 9-2.

The homer was Helms' first since the fourth game of the 1969 season and only the 15th of his big league career. And he was duly proud that it was the first one in the new stadium.

John Carlos Signs With Philly Eagles
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Carlos has signed to play professional football with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, but he fell about $977,000 short of his asking price.
Neither Carlos nor Eagles' general manager Pete Retzlaff would name the figure that made one of the world's great sprinters a pro football player. The educated guess, however, put it at $23,000, give or take a few thousand.

Yarborough Gains Pole Slot For Firecracker 400

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cale Yarborough interrupted a fishing trip Wednesday to boost his Firecracker 400 stock car qualifying record to 191.640 miles per hour.
It earned him an immediate $200 and the pole position in Saturday's $95,000 race for the big GrandNational stockers.

Javelin and won the Paul Revere pole over a road-track course at 104.154 m.p.h.
Yarborough spent Monday looking for fishing spots in the Gulf of Mexico and checking on progress of a new 30-foot cruiser he is having built at Perry, Fla. But he came to Daytona International Speedway, shook down his 1969 Mercury, and put it in his favorite starting place—first.

husky young blond veteran from Timmonsville, S.C.
"Track conditions were mighty fine and the car was perfect," Yarborough said, "but I was a little off. I pinched it in too low on the first and second turns and got a little wiggly. That always costs you."
Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., put his brand new 1970 Dodge Daytona in the starting front row beside Yarborough. Isaac expressed satisfaction with his 190.142 speed, "since we haven't got the car handling exactly like we want it and are still working on it."

Helms savored his glory after the game. "It's about time I hit a homer," he said. Asked how far he thought his shot traveled, Helms replied, "It's 330 feet down the left field line and I must have hit it 332."

Bill Grabarkewitz cracked a three-run homer in the fifth inning and then touched off a three-run tie-breaking rally in the eighth with a double as the Dodgers whipped Houston.
The Astros had tied the score in the top of the eighth on Cesar Cedeño's pinch double, a fielder's choice and an infield hit. But Willie Davis singled home Grabarkewitz with the deciding run in the bottom half of the inning.

Convicted Slayer Given Death In Electric Chair

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 24-year-old Cleveland man, Ernest Borders, was convicted of first-degree murder Wednesday in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court and sentenced to die in the electric chair on Nov. 19.

The defending champion, the third fastest qualifier, Lee Roy Yarborough, of Columbia, S.C., was disgusted to learn that his 1969 Mercury's best lap was only 189.685 m.p.h.
"I hoped to be in the 190s," he said. "I didn't figure to beat Cale, but Isaac slipped up on us. Maybe it's because we qualified with our racing engine. It only has 40 miles on it and isn't broken in."

Such other favorites as Pete Hamilton of Dedham, Mass.; David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C.; Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind.; Benny Parsons of Detroit; Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C.; Bobby Allison, and Dick Brooks of Porterville, Calif., grabbed the rest of the front 10 qualifying spots.

Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala.; Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C.; and Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., had to wait until today's second round of qualifying to make the field. All three failed to meet Brooks' 185.927.

A jury of six men and six women deliberated six hours before returning a guilty verdict without recommendation of mercy. Judge Joseph Nahra passed sentence.
Borders was charged in the shooting death last Thanksgiving of Marvin Bell, 20, of Cleveland, in parking lot of the General Motors Corp's Fisher Body Plant here.

Another man charged in the slaying, Larry Kincaid, was shot to death last February in a gun battle with police. A third man charged, Aaron Williams of Cleveland, is being sought by police.

Richie Nebner clouted a three-run homer with two-out in the eighth inning to rally Pittsburgh past New York, Jim McAndrew was working on a three-hitter and had retired 11 straight Pirates when Gene Clines stroked a two-out pinch single in the eighth. Matty Alou followed with another hit and then Hebner connected.

Cleveland Man Files New Suit On Air Pollution

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man who two weeks ago filed suit to stop the Cleveland Municipal Light plant from allegedly polluting the air filed a similar suit Wednesday against the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

David W. Swetland, president of Park investment Co., filed both suits in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court. The CEI suit includes all CEI generating plants in Northeast Ohio.
Swetland alleged that CEI smokestacks emit "noxious and noxious exhalations" consisting of dense smoke, sulfur dioxide and "other poisonous gases" and the company has continued to practice despite its awareness of the health hazard.

Attorneys for Swetland said that CEI must respond to the charges by August 1 and that the case could come before the courts two or three months after that.

The homer was Helms' first since the fourth game of the 1969 season and only the 15th of his big league career. And he was duly proud that it was the first one in the new stadium.

In other National League action Wednesday, Chicago ended its 12-game losing streak with a 5-0 victory over St. Louis, Montreal swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 11-1 and 4-1, Pittsburgh topped New York 4-3, San Francisco battered San Diego 12-7 and Los Angeles dumped Houston 6-3.

Rookie Wayne Simpson fired a six-hitter and won his ninth straight, running his record to 12-1.

The Cubs finally won a game, ending their longest losing streak since 1944 on Ferguson Jenkins' four-hitter over the Cardinals. A four-run seventh inning with singles by Billy Williams, Jim Hickman and Ron Santo as the key hits, broke up a scoreless duel between Jenkins and St. Louis rookie Jerry Reuss.

Cleveland Man Files New Suit On Air Pollution

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man who two weeks ago filed suit to stop the Cleveland Municipal Light plant from allegedly polluting the air filed a similar suit Wednesday against the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

David W. Swetland, president of Park Investment Co., filed both suits in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court. The CEI suit includes all CEI generating plants in Northeast Ohio.

Swetland alleged that CEI smokestacks emit "noxious and noxious exhalations" consisting of dense smoke, sulfur dioxide and "other poisonous gases" and the company has continued to practice despite its awareness of the health hazard.

Tigers Win, McLain Still Rusty

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny McLain returned to the baseball world Wednesday night and showed that he hadn't changed much. He still didn't know what he was doing.

The 26-year-old ace right-hander of the Detroit Tigers was tagged for five runs and eight hits, including three homers, in 5 1/3 innings but wasn't involved in the decision as Mickey Stanley singled home an unearned run in the 11th inning for a 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees.

"I was scared as hell, to be truthful," McLain admitted after getting several thunderous ovations from a packed house of 53,863, largest Tiger Stadium crowd in nine years, larger than any of the Detroit crowds during the 1968 World Series.

"I feel pretty good, but I'm not satisfied because I didn't go nine innings. I'm not thinking like a pitcher yet. I made a couple of mistakes," Jerry Kenney, Thurman Olson and Bobby Murcer hit the mistakes out of the park.

"I really thought I was going to cry for a minute or swallow my tongue," McLain said of the crowd response to his first appearance since he was suspended from baseball for involvement with gamblers. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn decided that McLain was duped into investing in a Flint, Mich., book-making operation.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 3-0, Minnesota edged Kansas City 2-1 in 10 innings, California shaded Milwaukee 4-3, Oakland zapped the Chicago White Sox 3-0 and Boston beat Washington 6-4.

Kenney said the Yankees were "waiting for McLain's curve ball and were taking it, since he was a bit off target. He'd get one curve over, miss with another and come in with the fast ball. But," Kenney added, "he will be pretty sharp before the season is over."

The Yankees dropped four games behind Baltimore in the AL East when Jim Palmer hurled an eight-hitter as the Orioles beat the Indians for the eighth straight time this season. The Birds scored single runs in the second, third and fourth off rookie Rick Austin, Brooks Robinson launched two of the rallies with fluke doubles and Boog Powell doubled to start the other one.

A bases-loaded sacrifice fly by Rich Reese in the 19th inning gave Minnesota's its winning run against Kansas City. Rick Reick homered for the Twins' other tally.

Jim Fregosi's two-run homer highlighted a three-run rally in the sixth inning that powered the Angels past the Brewers. Bob Burda hit his first AL homer for the losers.

Rollie Fingers, Paul Lindblad and Mudcat Grant combined on a four - hitter as the A's turned back the White Sox on Sal Bando's RBI single in the sixth inning and a two-run homer by Bert Campaneris in the ninth.

Two-run homers by Carl Yastrzemski and George Scott broke open a tie game in the seventh inning and the Red Sox survived a counter rally to edge the Senators 6-5.

The Nats, who had won four straight games with late-inning heroics, got two in the eighth and one in the ninth but Sparky Lyle pitched out of trouble both times.

Blancas And Snead Favored In Canadian Open Tourney

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — Homero Blancas was the favorite and the legendary Sam Snead was the sentimental choice today in the first round of the $125,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament.

"I just wish I had your nerves on the green," the 58-year-old Snead told Blancas over lunch before they set out.

"For just two seasons," the old West Virginia hillbilly said, "just two seasons with your nerves. Man, with the money they're playing for now, I'd cut a path for 'em to follow."

"That would be it, wouldn't it, Sam?" Blancas replied. "Let's see if we can get 'em to let you hit it and me putt. We'd be unbeatable. Unbeatable."

Then the happy go lucky Blancas paused for a moment and asked:

"What about chipping? You want me to chip? Can you still chip?"

Snead grinned: "Are you kidding?"

Snead, winner of more than 80 official tour events in a career that goes back to the 1930s, is only a part-time tourist now but still retains his dual trademark, the brightly-banded straw hat and the smooth, effortless swing, "the sweetest swing in the land."

He has had putting troubles in recent years and hasn't won in several seasons. His biggest challenge was in the Canadian Open last year when he took Tommy Aaron to an 18 - hole playoff before losing.

Snead makes no bones about his putting woes.

"I was playing with (Ben) Hogan a few years ago in Miami. He was about six feet away on the left and I was five feet on the right. He gets over it and goes pfft," Snead said making a jerky sideways motion with his hands. "So I get up go pfft," he said making the same motion.

"Man, I told him, 'I'm not going to watch you putt. I'm going to look at the clouds or the birds or something else.'"

With most of the leading names in the game skipping this tournament, including all the top 10 money winners, Blancas ranked as the man to beat. He won the Colonial National Invitation, has one second, was ninth last week and has been in the top 10 eight times this year.

Other leading contenders included defending champion Tommy Aaron, George Archer, Dave Stockton, Bob Goalby and Larry Hinson.

NEA Meet Urges Hard Line On U.S. Funds For Schools

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The resolution committee of the 108th annual National Education Association convention proposed today a hard-line position against use of federal funds in private or parochial schools.

A committee resolution asks that present federal programs be "modified so that all federal monies for elementary and secondary education, goods and services, either direct or indirect, shall be expended solely for the support of public schools."

This was a return to the NEA position prior to 1965 when Congress passed the Elementary-Secondary Education Act, which provided some federally financed services and materials for private schools, including textbooks, library facilities, instructional matter and lunches.

The resolution states that legislation "should be consistent with the constitutional provisions respecting an establishment of religion and with the tradition of separation of church and state with no diversion of federal funds, goods or services to nonpublic elementary and secondary schools."

The resolution concludes: "Where federal funds are presently provided to kindergarten to 12th grade nonpublic schools, these funds be discontinued; however, until such funds shall be controlled by public education agencies and be limited to tuition-free schools that meet all standard required of public schools."

President Nixon earlier this year in a message to Congress suggested that ways should be found to lend financial assistance to private schools, which he said were closing at the rate of one a day.

Last April 21 Nixon announced creation of a panel on nonpublic education to "promote diversity within the Constitution."

At that time he said if "most or all private schools were to close or turn public the added burden on public funds by the end of the 1970s would exceed $1 billion per year in operations."

Tarr . . .

of Selective Service advisory committees from throughout the nation took turns drawing the capsules. Aides rotated the drums between each drawing.

The lottery was delayed 15 minutes when an axle snapped on a drum.

Tarr, determined to ensure fairness, had said earlier that if a mishap seriously impaired the drawing, the drawing might have to be repeated.

Tarr watched the drawing from a seat in the audience. He displayed no nervousness, saying "It doesn't bother me much."

"I have been a little worried about the whole lottery, though, because I'm so anxious that it appear fair to those involved."

The drawing—originally scheduled to take an hour and a half—took three and a half hours.

One youth adviser wore a peace-symbol necktie and told a newsman he opposed all war and would be a conscientious objector. He drew seven dates when his turn came.

The only sound from the audience was an occasional murmur for an especially low number, and for number 365 and for Christmas.

There was a burst of laughter and applause when the drums were turned at the very end when only one capsule remained in each drum.

While official observers certified the result, police reported an anonymous bomb threat and youth advisers were shepherd outside to waiting buses.

Finally, Tarr announced: "I hereby certify that this lottery is official, that the results are binding, and that the proceedings here are complete."

Police moved everyone out so they could search the auditorium. No bomb was found.
